

IN TIME FOR CHRISTMAS. Temporary retaining walls are lowered into an excavation west of the Venice underpass on Route 3 Tuesday afternoon. The $1 million repair work by the H. H. Hall Construction Co., which could be finished by Christmas, was necessitated by the erosion of soil below the underpass roadway which eventually caused its collapse. A new 400-foot drain pipe will be installed, in addition to six pumps which will run continuously to avoid any further erosion under the pavement. A drainage system which pumps the excess water directly into the Mississippi River has already been constructed.

Underpass opening may be Venice Christmas present

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

Three major projects in the City of Venice — repairs to the Broadway underpass, improvements at the Mississippi River boat launching site and installation of cable television — appear to be progressing well, Venice aldermen learned at a relatively upbeat meeting of the city council Tuesday night.

The Venice underpass may be reopened to vehicular traffic by Christmas. But then again, depending on weather, it could be delayed until early next year, council members learned.

The $993,812 major repair project at the underpass, located on Broadway in Venice and leading to Illinois Route 3 and McKinley Bridge, is "moving along," according to Mayor Tyrone Echols.

"They (engineers) assured me it could be ready before Christmas, hopefully, but I haven't been there this week," the mayor said.

Venice Superintendent of Streets Tom Scaturro reported that excavation for the 400-foot-long main drainage pipe now is underway and workmen shortly will be installing a 28-inch pipe to remove the surface water.

The schedule is contingent upon good weather. "It still sounds like its going to be 1983 to me," the mayor responded.

The Venice underpass, which carries a large volume of vehicular traffic under several railroad lines to McKinley Bridge and Route 3, has been closed since the drainage system collapsed beneath the subway, along with the pavement, July 10.

The Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) awarded a $993,812 contract for improvements in August to H. H. Hall Construction Co. of East St. Louis.

The extensive project involves the construction of a deep well drainage system, sewer repairs and installing eight-tenths of a mile of concrete pavement on Route 3.

Traffic has been routed over Klein and Bissell streets for the past five months. Both thoroughfares have sustained damage from the heavy traffic volume and are scheduled for repairs after the underpass reopens.

Mayor Echols reported installation of the main lines for cable television in the community probably will be starting within the next two to three weeks.

Doyle Duggan, a CATV Cable System representative, accompanied by an executive officer of the firm, will be in Venice next week when additional information will be provided concerning the project's status, the mayor advised.

Jerry Maeras admits his guilt in Stix case

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

In the public eye virtually all of his life, Jerry Maeras remained in the center of the spotlight this week as he pleaded guilty to mail fraud, securities fraud and conspiracy to impede the Internal Revenue Service.

He is emerging as potentially the star witness in trials related to the Stix & Co. stock brokerage collapse of November 1981, when it was contended that clients' accounts had been looted of tens of millions of dollars. Trials of several defendants are likely to be held in 1983.

Maeras, 48, is the owner and operator of a gasoline service station, an insurance agency and a real estate business in Madison, where his late father was mayor and political leader for three decades, the 1940s, '50s and '60s.

Jerry Maeras transferred the ownership of some of his properties to relatives shortly before the brokerage scandal became known publicly. But until this week he had steadfastly maintained his innocence, denying he had financed any of his holdings with profits from illegal Stix transactions.

The central figure in the brokerage collapse, Thomas R. Brimberry, formerly of Granite City, agreed a year ago to testify about the complicated case, in return for being prosecuted as the perpetrator of a single tax felony.

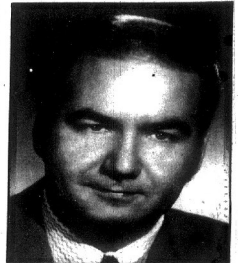

Federal prosecutors now say they may go after Brimberry on other counts, if evidence from Maeras shows Brimberry is not telling all he knows. The latter's arrangement with federal authorities requires him to be truthful and complete in his statements about the defunct securities firm.

The extent to which Maeras cooperates with prosecutors also is expected to affect the severity of his own punishment.

Six persons have been implicated in the Stix case, and five say they are innocent.

James Massa of Collinsville would be subject to more than 100 years in prison if convicted. Maeras could face 15 years and a $22,000 fine on his guilty pleas.

Maeras may be given a lighter sentence than that, and his Feb. 11 sentencing date could be postponed to await his testimony in other defendants' trials.

Weber renews demand for Jim Barton's firing

By BILL WINTER
and NANCY WEIL

Madison County State's Attorney Don W. Weber this week issued a new call for officials to fire James W. Barton as the county government's supervisor of assessments.

Weber unsuccessfully urged Barton's dismissal in 1981 after it was disclosed that some township-set assessments were reduced for officials and other property owners.

The new appeal for ousting him came 12 days after grand jurors had indicted the assessment supervisor on two bribery allegations and one count of conspiracy to commit bribery. The three charges stem from a rezoning proposal in the spring of 1982.

Voicing anger over the way he believes Barton has conducted himself, Weber told the Press-Record yesterday, "Before he goes to trial, I think he should be 'caned.'"

Asked whether a defendant ought to be considered innocent prior to trial and conviction, the prosecutor asserted, "People just don't understand the law."

"Number one, (I think) he's committed a criminal offense," Weber said. "Number two, (I think) he's committed enough misfeasance in office."

"If he is found guilty, he will not be guilty from the day he's found guilty, but from the day he did it."

Weber told the Press-Record it is important to oust Barton now because this will be a quadrennial reassessment year in Madison County.

Because of the scheduled reassessment, Weber said, Barton will have "an enormous amount of power and influence."

Citing Chapter 120, Section 484a of the Illinois Statutes, the fiery prosecutor related that an assessor's term is for four years unless actions occur during the term that justify removal from office.

"The way I see it, we're dealing with a person who should not be in office, or in any way responsible for government functions."

Asked whether he would voice the same comments in a non-quadrrennial year, Weber said, "There is no doubt in my mind that I would feel the same way."

"For instance, if there was a school teacher accused of misconduct and the trial took two years, you wouldn't want to put him back in the classroom with other students. There is no difference between that (example) and the supervisor of assessments job."

"He has so much power (through his assessment position) that he just cannot be kept track of; there is so much that he does."

Asked whether the Barton case is

Sewer committee asked to aid mobile homes

A request for assistance and recommendations for the Cottonwood Mobile Home Park on Division Street in Pontoon Beach was heard by the Madison County Sanitary Sewers Committee overseeing Special Service Area Number One.

Mary E. Warren, village clerk, requested the aid, in light of several months of problems in the mobile home park resulting from improper sewer facilities.

She told the Press-Record that residents there have complained of water backing up into their yards, possibly caused from the septic systems operating at the homes.

The sewer district is in the process of establishing a deadline for installation of the sewer system at the mobile home park, but until then the village has requested the assistance from the county.

"We want the county to aid or assist us in any way they can to eliminate the problems of water back up," Mrs. Warren said. She added that the water table is particularly high in that area during the spring and fall.

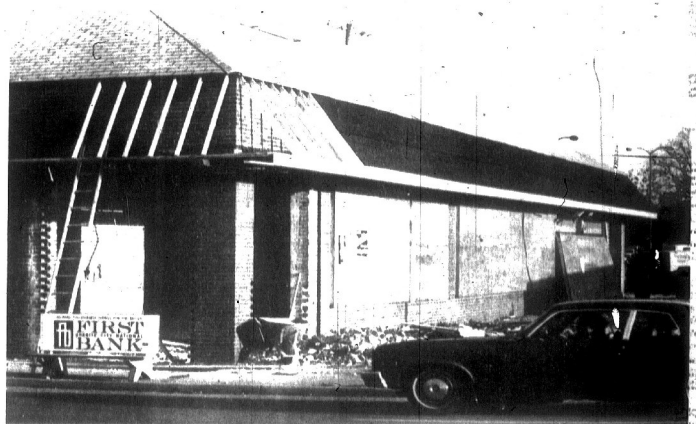

The committee also considered a letter from Marshall "Zeke" Smith, assistant state's attorney regarding problems in the Meadowlane Drive area in Mitchell. Residents there apparently are unhappy with the present sewer system, which is not operated by the county and, instead, is run by an independent Smith.

Smith will continue work on the Brandon Heights case and the Meadowlane case, it was noted. After those cases are completed he will be leaving his position as the district's attorney.

Presently, Irvin Slate has taken the post and started work with the district on various other matters. In other action, the committee approved its application for a water control permit from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency in the Brandon Heights subdivision. The permit, if approved by the EPA, will allow the district to move the sewer line in the subdivision.

Charges result from 2 accidents

Eight charges were filed against two persons following two accidents involving parked vehicles at the weekend in the 2900 block of Washington Avenue.

Lynne L. Matich, 16, of 1294 Poplar St., allegedly was driving a vehicle that struck a parked auto, belonging to Mary Gewecke, 2645 Washington Ave., with the impact pushing the Gewecke car into a tree at 2637 Washington. She was charged with reckless driving and driving without a valid license.

Miss Matich's vehicle then allegedly struck another auto owned by Gloria B. Lloyd, 1710 Kennedy Drive, Madison, which was parked outside 2683 Washington Ave.

Miss Matich was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and with not having a valid driver's license in the second accident. She suffered a nose bleed and went to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she was treated and released.

Harvey Copeland, 30, of 2820 Dale Ave., a passenger in the auto operated by Miss Matich, was charged with permitting an unauthorized person to drive and contributing to the delinquency of a minor when officers charged finding open cans of beer in the auto.

At police headquarters, Copeland reportedly became unruly and allegedly grabbed an officer's shirt and tried to strike him with his fist. He also allegedly resisted the efforts of two officers attempting to restrain him. Copeland then was charged with aggravated assault and resisting arrest.

Miss Matich was released on notice to appear for a hearing.

ALLEGES BEATING IN PARKING AREA

A Granite City woman told police at 10:50 p.m. Friday that a man stepped in front of the auto she was driving in the Nameoki Village Shopping Center, forcing her to halt the vehicle. He then jumped on the car hood.

Jill Bledsoe reported her companion, Mike Sullivan, alighted from the car and talked with the man, Brian K. Mainor, 19, of 2449 St. Clair Ave., who opened the car door and grabbed at the woman. A scuffle between the two men ensued.

As Miss Bledsoe and Sullivan started to leave, Mainor allegedly pulled off his belt and began hitting the vehicle with the buckle, causing considerable damage estimated at more than $300.

Mainor was arrested on a battery complaint. He was released to his parents at 6:35 a.m. Saturday on payment of a $102 cash bond, but must return today to talk with detectives, the report noted.

MAN TAKES ITEMS FROM APARTMENT

While she was at work last week, Patricia Pulley, 2149 Edison Ave., was advised by a neighbor that a man entered her apartment and was loading several items into a pickup truck.

Missing from the dwelling were a console stereo, a stereo and turntable, two lamps, a coffee table and two end tables and pictures and other wall decorations, with a total value of $425. The title to a 1975 vehicle also was taken, she said.

New faces expected on some city councils

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Veteran political candidates, including former Madison mayor and councilman James Riskovsky and former Granite City Alderman Lloyd Bailey, are preparing to pit themselves against incumbents in the April 12 election.

Independent candidates for alderman in both cities have one week, Dec. 6 to 13, to file. Granite City and Madison city halls will open at 8 Monday morning to receive candidates' petitions. One alderman must be elected from each of the wards in those cities.

Madison candidates who plan to run on a united slate with other aldermanic office seekers do not file until Jan. 24. The Venice filing period for all aldermanic candidates also opens Jan. 24 and continues for one week.

In Madison, the election will be the first held after its city-wide ward redistricting, which trimmed the number of wards from five to four. Complicating the issue are the new ward names and boundaries, which will throw an "extra" or third alderman in reorganized wards Two and Three.

Third Ward Alderman Elmer Smith, who would have been reappointed to new Ward Two, however, said in a Press-Record interview this week that he will not seek re-election in April. His decision will eliminate the extra alderman situation that had been expected in Ward Two.

The other current Third Ward Alderman, Thomas Gordon, whose term does not expire until 1985, will be designated as an alderman-at-large, according to Alderman Robert Donald Reeves, who chaired the redistricting efforts. Reeves said the new boundaries "split up" and "eliminated" the old Ward Three, making Gordon the logical choice for the alderman-at-large position.

While representing the entire city in his alderman-at-large position, Gordon will be a resident of the new Ward Third. His designation will be eliminated in 1985, when he must run as a Third Ward candidate.

Smith's retirement will cut Madison aldermen to nine in 1983 and 1984 and, with the phasing out of the Gordon at-large position, will eventually mean eight alderman in 1985.

With the exception of

Smith, all four of the other Madison aldermen whose terms expire next April are expected to file their candidacy petitions next month as part of a yet-to-be named slate. None have picked up petitions to run as independent candidates. Last week, that group was endorsed by the Executive Board of the Madison City Organization, according to Alderman Reeves, board member. The city organization is composed of appointed and elected office holders and city employees of Madison.

Aldermen Paul Ashford (new First Ward), William Gushleff (new Third Ward), and Donald Garrett (new Fourth Ward) have all confirmed their intentions to seek re-election. Alderman Mike Sikora would not comment on his possible candidacy.

Independent challengers, who have picked up petitions prior to the filing date, are Alfred Endicott, 1419 Third St., for First Ward; Thomas George, 1703 Elizabeth St., and James Riskovsky, 714

Iowa St., both for the Second Ward; Walter F. "Mick" Strange, 1736 Fifth St., Third Ward; and James Newsome, 1029 Market St., for Fourth Ward.

Riskovsky and George have both run as aldermanic candidates in past elections, and both have stated they will definitely file next week for a place on the April ballot. Riskovsky was a mayoral challenger to Mayor Mike Sayk in 1980 and ran for treasurer in 1977, but lost those bids.

In Granite City, three candidates have picked up petitions for the Fifth Ward position opened by retiring Alderman Margaret Nomm, but little interest has been shown thus far in six other aldermanic seats. All incumbents have picked up petition forms, with the exception of Mrs. Nomm.

City Clerk Robert W. Stevens reported others requesting Fifth Ward alderman are former Fifth Ward Alderman Lloyd Bailey, 2807 Roosevelt Ave.; former Fifth Ward candidate Gary Barnstable, 2835 West 22nd St., and La Verna Corbett, 2701 Denver Ave.

Second Ward alderman Sam Whitmer, who previously had been undecided on his candidacy, said in an interview Wednesday he will be seeking re-election. Whitmer's ward is the only other where a challenger has sought a petition. That petition was requested by Joseph McGinness, who unsuccessfully opposed Second Ward Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman in 1981.

Granite City incumbents seeking re-election are Alderman Everett Moelen, First Ward; Whitmer, Second Ward; Paul Fisk, Third Ward; Warren Decatur, Fourth Ward; Walter Milton, Sixth Ward; and Mike Modrusis, Seventh Ward.

Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield also is seeking re-election. Warfield was appointed to that office last winter upon the resignation of Lionel Portell. No other candidate petitions have been obtained for that position.

REMODELING HAULTED. Two members of the United Association of Plumbers and Pipefitters Local 360, Richard Kelly, left, and Bill Engleke, walk a picket line Wednesday in front of the former A & P building, 2016 Madison Ave. The building is to be the new general headquarters of the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis (TRRA). The union alleges that Shands Plumbing and Excavating, a subcontractor on the remodeling job, employs non-union workers. Workers of other companies arriving at the site Wednesday did not cross the picket line. The building is owned and is being remodeled by Attorney Terry Francis.

Office personnel group meets

The Granite City Association of Educational Office Personnel conducted its November meeting at Coolidge Junior High School with president Irene Hatcher presiding.

A short business meeting was conducted and plans for the upcoming Christmas party were reported by Pat Uznoff, co-chairman with Berta Milliams. The party is to be at Watson's Restaurant in Edwardsville and instead of exchanging gifts, members will exchange Christmas ornaments.

Betty Williams, program chairman, discussed the "secret pal" idea which is new to the members this year and she suggested ways to stimulate participation. Evelyn Glozik, who is in charge of friendship, asked members for donations of cards to create a supply to be used in the future.

A business student from each high school will be selected as candidates for the Marion T. Wood scholarship given by the state organization. Mrs. Betty Dumont, business department head at North High School and Mrs. Jeanette Holder, business teacher at South High School, will help choose the candidates.

Linda Wozniak and Pat Morris from Silk Occasions set up a display of Christmas arrangements for the secretaries to look at and purchase. Wozniak also demonstrated how to arrange a Christmas centerpiece.

Refreshments for the program were Donna Swanson, Louise Moad, Aileen Smith, and Gladys Wallace. Refreshments were served and decorations of silk flower arrangements from Silk Occasions adorned the tables.

Members attending were Barbara Dickerson, Helen Favier, Evelyn Glozik, Arlene Haldean, Irene Hatcher, Candy Kawula, Louise Moad, Wanda Page, Marcelle Pilcher, Barbara Schreiber, Aileen Smith, Arlene Smith, Donna Swanson, Pat Uznoff and Betty Williams.

Arrest for aggravated battery

James A. Rutter, 24, of 1640 E. 23rd St. was arrested at 2:45 p.m. Tuesday at St. Clair Avenue and Nameoki Road on a warrant alleging aggravated battery, related to a disturbance at 12:45 a.m. Nov. 26 at 1104 Kirkpatrick Homes.

Also taken into custody in Granite City on Tuesday afternoon, Miss Jeri R. Lance, 18, of 2737 Iowa St. was charged with battery and criminal damage to property.

It was alleged that Guy Perfetto of the Kirkpatrick address was beaten by Rutter with a wooden axe handle, Perfetto suffering a broken jaw and multiple cuts that required 50 sutures at a hospital.

Perfetto's wife, Cynthia, allegedly was struck about the body by Miss Lance.

BAC yule concert Sunday

The Belleville Area College Masterworks Choral and Chamber Choir will present "Christmas at the Cathedral" in a free performance at 8 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 5, at St. Peter's Cathedral in Belleville.

The Choral, which is under the direction of A. Dennis Sparger, has been described as "strong yet subtle, able to handle the triple fortissimo ... and the contrasting sotto voce" by St. Louis Post Dispatch critic Kevin Martin.

The major work of the evening is Puccini's "Messa di Gloria."

The performance by the Choral and a full professional orchestra will feature soloists tenor Thomas W. Sturgess of O'Fallon and bass-baritone Gerald Cozart of St. Louis.

Considered by the composer to be "no more than a youthful exercise," Puccini put the manuscript away after its initial performance in 1880. It was not found again until the 1950's.

Although the mass pre-dates his famous operas such as "La Boheme," "Tosca" and "Madame Butterfly," it foreshadows later developments, combining elements of Puccini's mature style with youthful exuberance.

Other selections for the evening include two Christmas motets by the English-Canadian composer Healey Willan and several carols, including "I Saw Three Ships" and "Tomorrow Shall Be My Dancing Day."

The Choral also will perform three selections from Benjamin Britten's "A Ceremony of Carols" for harp and chorus. St. Louis harpist Maria Pinckney will return for her second performance with the choral. She also will play a group of solo pieces for the harp.

In addition to the choral's performance, the all-student College Choir will perform. Its portion of the program includes Hassler's motet

"Cantate Domino" and a contemporary setting of a Gregorian chant, "Of the Father's Love Begotten." The choir members also will sing three favorite carols, "The First Noel," "Away in a Manger" and "Angels We Have Heard on High."

Introduce new Pepsi-Free here

Pepsi-Cola Company has introduced its new caffeine-free cola, Pepsi Free, in this area. The new product, introduced after extensive market research and product development, is available in both regular—99.7 percent caffeine-free—and sugar-free—100 percent caffeine-free, with one calorie.

"We want consumers to have a choice between regular and caffeine-free colas—without compromising on taste," said Pepsi-Cola Company President and Chief Executive Officer John Sculley. "Research indicates that consumers are very interested in a caffeine-free cola, however, they are not willing to trade off taste for the caffeine-free benefit. Pepsi Free is a completely new cola product with a great new taste making it worthy of the Pepsi name," he added.

Trio tries to rob 3

Attempts were made to rob three adults at 8 p.m. Monday in the 1800 block of Delmar Avenue. Three young boys were apprehended almost instantaneously by Granite City police.

Officers confiscated a .22-caliber pistol and a locking knife with a four-inch blade. The culprits during the attempted robbery spree also opened a vending machine outside the Press-Record office and scattered newspapers for nearly a block.

A boy, 15, wielded the gun, which was silver with white handles, witnesses said.

He had been residing at a Department of Children and Family Services foster home in East Granite City, and was transported at 10:40 a.m. Tuesday from the Granite City police building to the Madison County juvenile detention home in Edwardsville.

The youth with the knife, in his mid-teens, and a 12-year-old boy were released to their parents, pending hearings. Both reside in Granite City.

Rhonda G. Hurt, 20, and Debra S. Harlan, 27, had been accosted near 1918 Street and Delmar Avenue while walking south from the downtown area toward their homes in the 1700 block of Delmar.

They heard persons running behind them and turned, seeing the three boys.

The 15-year-old asked if they had any money and displayed the pistol, saying, "I could blow your faces off."

When Debra Harlan started to say she had only $3 and had already spent it, the youth told his companions, "They only have $3."

"Is it worth it?" he asked. Walking with them along Delmar, he asked the two women to help him rob the El Gato Tavern, #800 Delmar.

"I'll give you a knife, and a percentage," he said.

The women saw a woman friend of theirs, a Cleveland Boulevard resident, cross Delmar toward the Press-Record building.

The boys ran to the same location and began throwing copies of Monday's newspaper onto the street, scattering them about.

The Delmar residents, meanwhile, entered the tavern to relate what had happened, and police were contacted.

The boys next began following William Lawrence, described as being in his 40s. A St. Louisian who was having temporarily a downtown Granite City motel, the man had just left El Gato and was walking north.

One youth drew the knife from a sheath on his belt, and another drew the pistol from his trousers waistband and pointed the gun at the man.

Lawrence gave them his wallet.

As police rounded the corner, they saw what was happening and arrested the boys. The youngest of the three was found hiding near a building at 1814 Delmar.

Capture 2 after burglaries, chase

Two store burglaries here Wednesday were followed by an auto chase and the arrest of two suspects in the second break-in.

Burglary charges were filed last night against two brothers, Ronald E. Miller, 18, and David Lee-Miller, 30, former Granite Cityans who have addresses in Lincoln, Ill.

Authorities said suspicions first were aroused at 3:05 a.m. yesterday when it was determined that a window had been broken at the front of Sterling TV, 420 Madison Ave., Madison.

A television stand inside the window had nothing on it, and there was uncertainty whether there had been anything on the table that night. An inventory is being taken to determine if there are any items missing.

Shortly after the window breaking, an auto was seen illegally parked near the Madison store. Occupants were instructed to park the car properly.

A check on the license showed the vehicle was owned by a Lincoln, Ill., woman. Her name was associated by other officers with the Millers, and it was decided to be on the lookout for the car and the brothers.

At 4:10 a.m. Wednesday, a burglary occurred at the Radio Shack store in the Crossroads Plaza shopping center. Three $100 radio scanners and two $77 citizen band radio transmitters were taken after a tool was used to break a window.

The same auto was seen traveling rapidly through the shopping center and was pursued onto Fair Oaks Drive, where the two Millers were arrested after their car hit a fence.

The five radio devices were found in the auto, and the vehicle was ordered towed to a garage.

Four squad cars were at the scene of the capture, with Madison officers assisting Granite City police. One car had been used to help cut off the fleeing auto.

The green 1969 auto skidded against a fence at the back lawn of the home of Brent Hulson, 1333 Garfield Ave.

Ronald Miller was booked for the Radio Shack burglary and on a 1961 theft warrant. David Miller, who said he had served a ten-year prison term for armed robbery and armed violence, related that he had worked in the law library and had become a legal expert. He voiced confidence that burglary could not be proved.

The older of the two brothers was charged with the Radio Shack burglary, a 1978 warrant alleging driving without a license, disobeying a stop sign at Amos Avenue and North Street during Wednesday's chase, fleeing from and attempting to elude police, and reckless driving at Fair Oaks Drive and a Garfield Avenue alley.

Both men were still in custody here today.

Mr. Davis died Nov. 19, 1982, at Parkview Hospital in Nashville, Tenn., after a brief illness.

He had retired in 1966 from Granite City Steel, where he was employed 20 years in the Hot Strip Department. Mr. Davis was born in Alton, Mo., but had resided here for many years before moving to Tennessee.

Among the survivors are his widow, Mrs. Betty (Odom) Davis; two sons, Carl Davis of Granite City and Arnold Davis of St. Louis; a stepson, Kenneth Hart of Rossville, Ga.; three daughters, Evelyn Pryor of Mount Olive, Vivian Devine of Bismark, Mo., and Anita Smith of Oak Ridge, Tenn.; two stepdaughters, Minnie Camacho of Granite City and Karen Moffatt of Staunton, W. Va.; four brothers, James Davis, Potosi, Mo., John Davis, Lutesville, Mo., Herman Davis, Boone Terre, Mo., and Alvin Davis, Dike, Mo.; a sister, Pearl Portell, Potosi, Mo.; 15 grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren and 10 step-grandchildren.

Burial was in the Hamm Cemetery at Erin.

Gauen was crossing Madison Avenue at 29th Street. The impact caused the left rear of his auto to strike and bend a stop sign.

Why Have a Funeral?

Few people realize that a funeral service provides much more than care for the deceased. It helps the survivors face the reality of the loss and in turn provides friends and relatives a chance to express their support and love. The funeral is a ceremony of recognition which focuses on the value of life and reaffirms religious beliefs.

If you've wondered why we have funerals, you may be interested in the program entitled, "Values of the Funeral."

It's available for your use, at no charge, through our audio-visual library. And it offers insights into the purposes of funerals as well as practical information surrounding funeral arrangements.

We often present this program to community groups with ample time for individual questions. For further information or scheduling of a presentation on the "Values of the Funeral" for your organization, give us a call.

Weber renews

likely to be expanded to other defendants, Weber replied. "Barton gave a newspaper interview and he said on the stand that it is common practice to give money to public officials in Madison County (for political contributions)."

"He said that 'money opens doors.' He also said that William Nichols (who provided a $1,000 contribution) had been in his office."

"A comment that the money had been given to try to influence officials leaves open the possibility that the investigation could become bigger."

"However, Barton has not mentioned any names."

In addition to the Nov. 18 indictments, potentially damaging disclosures were filed with the Madison County Circuit Court on Nov. 23.

It is alleged that Nichols, a Horseshoe Lake area land owner, gave $1,000 to Barton and that half of that amount was forwarded to Metro-East Sanitary District President Walter "Shang" Greathouse, a member of the county's Zoning Board of Appeals.

Nichols wanted to sell large quantities of dirt to a nearby sanitary landfill for use in covering the trash dumped there.

He sought MESD authority to place a culvert or bridge across a drainage ditch, and asked for a special zoning permit which would have allowed him to create numerous dirt "borrow pits."

Barton contends the entire $1,000 went to pre-election Democratic political campaigns. Greathouse says he did not want $500 that was left on his auto seat, and adds that he gave it back to Barton.

Illinois Criminal Investigation Division reports filed with the court allege the cash was a bribe offer. All three individuals have given grand jury testimony, with Nichols granted immunity from prosecution.

Aside from the merits or lack of merits of the case, it would be a "feather in the cap" of Weber, a Republican, if one or more key Democratic appointees were toppled from office in this Democratic-dominated county.

Barton was named to his third four-year term in 1980 and Greathouse was reappointed to the MESD board for another five years last month, after promising to resign if accused and convicted of wrongdoing.

Both appointments were made by County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer and were approved by the board.

Even if a resignation occurred, Weber would proceed with prosecution of Barton, he said Tuesday.

Barton is free on a $25,000 recognizance bond and has continued to work at the assessment office across the street from the County Courthouse.

A member of the County Board who sought the Democratic state's attorney nomination in 1980, William Haine, called for Barton's resignation at the Nov. 17 board meeting.

Haine heads the County Board's judiciary committee and is president of the Madison County Transit District Board.

Acknowledging that Barton had not been charged at that time, Haine said even the suspicion of wrongful acts can damage the credibility of an official in a sensitive public office.

Weber said Tuesday he is assembling information on Barton and will forward it to Hagnauer, assuming that it then will be submitted to the judiciary committee for a recommendation to the full 29-member County Board.

Underpass

questioned whether CATV has decided on locating either the cable service business office, or the head-in tower in Venice, a prerequisite stated by the city council in the ordinance granting the cable TV franchise to CATV.

Mayor Echols replied, "No," but reminded the aldermen this point is written into the contractual agreement with the firm. "I don't think we'll have to worry about it," he said.

CATV presently is installing cable service in Brooklyn, Ill., and a tower originally was to be constructed in that community to also serve Venice. In response, Venice requested the establishment of the business office in the local community.

Mayor Echols asked the council to approve an agreement for professional engineering services in connection with the Illinois Department of Conservation's $60,000 grant for proposed improvements and construction at the boat launching area on the Venice riverfront.

The agreement, which received approval, calls for Juneau Associates, Inc., a Granite City engineering firm, to prepare the preliminary survey and estimated cost, plan the final design and provide engineering data and general guidance during the construction phase.

Overall plans call for clearing the launching ramp area, renovation of the existing facilities and access roads, scheduled improvements that includes parking sites and a new ramp, and erecting appropriate signs.

26-3 Democratic board to be seated

With countywide officials starting the new fiscal year yesterday and judges to begin their terms at 9 a.m. next Monday, Dec. 6, the new Madison County Board will convene at 9:30 a.m. Monday at the Courthouse in Edwardsville.

Democrats will have a 26-3 edge, compared to 23-4 in the past two years. Only one Democratic incumbent was defeated Nov. 2, Charles F. Bode of District 18, compared to four Republicans losing out—Elmer Luber of One, Herschel P. Beane of Five, Mrs. Dorothy Spence of Nine and Jack Griffin of 13.

The Beane loss was not counted until the official canvass. Republicans lost several other positions by only razor-thin margins.

Assembling for board One, Harold Byers of Highland, D., a former state representative; 13, Leroy Kuehnle, D.; and 25, Donald C. Rea, D., of Pontoon Beach. Four-year terms—District Five, Robert L. Copley, D.; Six, William Aery, R.; 11, Charles R. Burns, D.; 14, Rudolph Papa, D.; 18, James Hanks, R.; and 26, Nick J. Hamilton, D.

All 29 seats were up for election this year due to the redistricting associated with the ten-year census.

Incumbents beginning new terms Monday will be: Two-year terms—Seven, William L. Little, D.; Eight, William R. Haine, D.; Ten, S. Harold "Cotton" Roberts, D.; 12, Anthony Bosch, D.; 15, George Schmittling, D.; 16, Morris W. Miles of Mitchell, D.; 17, Donald W. McLean, D.; 22, Herbert "Junior" Milton of Granite City, D.; 23, Patricia D. Pfleger, 35, of the 2500 block of Northbridge reported to the Granite City police building Monday and was booked on three Nov. 23 deceptive practice complaints filed by Bob's Shell Station, Buck and Jan's Den and J & J Liquor. She was freed on her own recognizance by authority of Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand.

Districts Four, Six and 18, instead of their previous One, Four, Five, Six, Nine and 13.

Two "new" districts were created in the Edwardsville rural area, 11 and 26, with both won by Democrats.

The board is headed by a veteran member, Nelson Hagnauer of District 20, who is expected to seek reelection as board chairman. Along with Effimoff and the 18 incumbents, ten "newcomers" are to be seated Monday.

One of the ten, Democrat Richard Hugh Worthen of Alton, previously served from 1976 to 1980 and is returning to the board after two years.

The nine brand new members are: Two-year terms—District One, Harold Byers of Highland, D., a former state representative; 13, Leroy Kuehnle, D.; and 25, Donald C. Rea, D., of Pontoon Beach. Four-year terms—District Five, Robert L. Copley, D.; Six, William Aery, R.; 11, Charles R. Burns, D.; 14, Rudolph Papa, D.; 18, James Hanks, R.; and 26, Nick J. Hamilton, D.

All 29 seats were up for election this year due to the redistricting associated with the ten-year census.

Incumbents beginning new terms Monday will be: Two-year terms—Seven, William L. Little, D.; Eight, William R. Haine, D.; Ten, S. Harold "Cotton" Roberts, D.; 12, Anthony Bosch, D.; 15, George Schmittling, D.; 16, Morris W. Miles of Mitchell, D.; 17, Donald W. McLean, D.; 22, Herbert "Junior" Milton of Granite City, D.; 23, Patricia D. Pfleger, 35, of the 2500 block of Northbridge reported to the Granite City police building Monday and was booked on three Nov. 23 deceptive practice complaints filed by Bob's Shell Station, Buck and Jan's Den and J & J Liquor. She was freed on her own recognizance by authority of Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand.

GC men among soloists at SIUE choral concert

Tom Wilkenson, a bass, and Doug Ferguson, a tenor, both from Granite City, will be among the soloists when three choral groups at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville usher in the Yuletide season Sunday with a concert of Christmas music from the past and the present.

They will be assisted by the Chamber Orchestra, with Robert Schieber conducting.

The concert will be presented in the atrium of the Eden Retirement Apartments, located in the Cottonwood area of Glen Carbon, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The 30-voice University Chorus will open the concert with a setting of the "Magnificat" by Johann Pachelbel. The chorus will be accompanied by Lynn Sova of Troy, harpsichordist, and Del Whitman of Kearney, Neb., cellist.

The Concert Chorus will sing four motets on Christmas themes by Sweelinck, Praetorius, Durante and Schuetz, including "Lo, How a Rose." They will continue with contemporary Christmas music, including a spiritual, "The Three Kings," by Willan, and "A Wonderful Mystery" by Lloyd Pfautsch.

Following the intermission, the Community Choral Society and Chamber Orchestra will combine forces to perform Camille Saint-Saens' Christmas "Oratorio," with soloists from the Community Choral Society performing in a variety of combinations.

The choral groups will be under the direction of Leonard Van Camp, director of choral activities at the University. The public is being invited to this annual concert.

Ballet Dec. 5 at Lewis and Clark

A "Winter Dance Festival" of classical ballet will open the Christmas Season at 2 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 5, at Lewis and Clark College in Godfrey with three dances from "Ice Maiden," which the Community Civic Ballet will present in June for the ballet's American premier.

The public is being invited to view selections from Swan Lake, Spartacus, Coppelia, Scherazade and Ice Maiden. The popular Russian ballet Ice Maiden has never been presented in America.

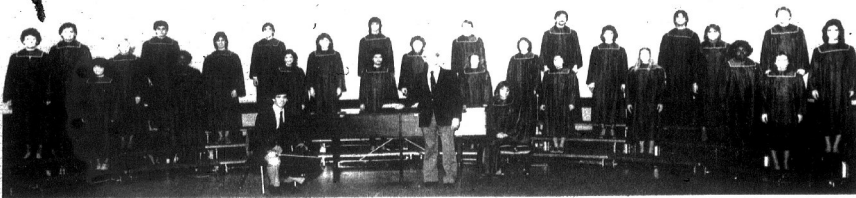

Irene Gintautas of Caseyville will choreograph and direct the Winter Dance Festival. She studied under Russian teachers from the Leningrad Kirov Ballet and she danced in the Lithuanian State Ballet before she immigrated to America.

The ballet dancers are from St. Clair, Madison and Jersey counties. Mary Ann Brice of Jerseyville also will perform with her group. Tickets are $2.50 at the door and 25-cents for school groups. For more information, interested persons may call Irene Gintautas at 344-2358 in Caseyville or Kim Butler at 1-786-2053 in Grafton.

6-year term as armed robber

Kenneth Dunham, 19, of 2004 Edwards St. has been sentenced to six years in prison for Aug. 14 and Sept. 3 armed robberies, the former occurring in Madison.

The sentence was set by Associate Judge Edward Ferguson. Dunham in late June was charged with felony theft in the June 24 loss of two bank envelopes containing deposits totaling $1,192 from an office at Co-op Records, 3675e Nameoki Road.

That charge was filed against him by Granite City police at the Madison County jail, where he was being held on a 1982 warrant alleging petty theft and a 1981 property damage warrant.

Investigation of the Aug. 14 Madison robbery led to filing of that charge on Sept. 13. Meanwhile, Dunham had been taken into custody in connection with the Sept. 3 robbery, whose location was not specified in court documents.

Fined for trespass to furnace property

Dennis Hagopian, 29, of 204 Sheridan Ave. has been sentenced by Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick to six months of supervision and has been fined $250 plus $25 costs for criminal trespass to land in the unincorporated area of Madison County.

Filed Dec. 28, 1981, the charge was amended, having been initially listed as burglary. The judge dismissed a related felony theft charge on a motion by the state's attorney.

Hagopian and another man were arrested at 2 a.m. Christmas Day after allegedly crawling under a fence at the Granite City steel blast furnace area.

Near the fence were copper items with a replacement value of $17,000 and worth $4,000 if sold as scrap. The both plates and axure nozzles normally were kept in a storage shed.

KIDS ON PAVEMENT AT 1-270 EXIT RAMP

Stanley W. Arbeckle, 43, of Ashgrove, Mo., was taken to Christian Northeast Hospital in West St. Louis County after a tractor trailer truck was driving skidded on wet pavement and rolled into a ditch at 3:10 p.m. Tuesday.

Arbeckle told state police that he was southbound on Illinois Route 3 and as he turned onto the westbound ramp of I-270, his truck started to skid and over-turned. He complained of pain and was taken by Campbell Ambulance service to the medical facility.

BURGLAR AT STORE

A burglar who broke a window at Fornasewski Music, 3009 Nameoki Road, early Wednesday took a $149 night-track stereo and turntable.

Ceiling on disability benefits

Legislation enacted in 1981 provides for a "cap" on disability benefits, Social Security officials explained this week.

A person's Social Security disability benefits will be reduced, if necessary, so that the total amount of all benefits payable under federal, state and local public programs on the basis of disability will not exceed 80 percent of the individual's average earnings before he or she became disabled.

The provision does not apply to receipt of a Veterans Administration disability payment, a public employee pension based on Social Security-covered employment, a public benefit based on financial need, or a private pension or insurance benefit.

The "cap" is intended to eliminate duplicate benefits which overcompensate some disabled workers, discouraging them from attempting to return to work, and which create unnecessary expenditures.

The ceiling on disability benefits limits overlapping and duplication of public disability programs.

A disabled person who is better off financially by not working may be discouraged from attempting to return to work, a spokesman commented, although many people would prefer to be independent and gainfully employed regardless of their income, some undoubtedly find the increased income obtained from disability benefits a disincentive to return to work.

Additional information about disability benefits may be obtained from any Social Security office.

Probation given on deceptive practice

For June 19 and June 21 instances of deceptive practice, James Hutchinson, 40, of the 2000 block of Harris St., Madison, has been placed on one year of probation by Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick.

The June 19 allegation was filed on June 23, and the earlier case was the basis of a document filed July 8. Guilty pleas were received Sept. 30.

EAST 28th HIGHWAY INJURES 2 DRIVERS

Both motorists were hurt and were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center after a collision in front of 2301 E. 28th St. at 2:10 p.m. Monday. There was damage to the front of the car of Nancy McEwen, 44, Woodmen, Ill., southbound on E. 28th, and the left side of the auto of Catherine Holt, 25, East St. Louis, northbound from an alley and making a right turn to go west.

St. Louis man faces charges

Four traffic charges were filed by the Madison Police Department last week against Andrew A. Gregory, 28, of St. Louis, who was released from custody at 11:30 a.m. Thursday upon paying a $102 cash bond. Additional charges by Venice officers against the same man also are pending. It was reported Friday.

Madison charged Gregory with leaving the scene of an accident, destruction of property, careless driving and failing to give information following a series of mishaps occurring Nov. 23 in Venice and Madison.

A Venice officer, who was investigating another incident, reported seeing a vehicle northbound on Route 3, allegedly operated by Gregory, drive onto the concrete median and strike and damage a traffic standard light at Route 3 and Bissell Street.

The driver allegedly left the scene without stopping and, due to congested traffic conditions, the officer was unable to follow the auto.

A description of the car was broadcast and the vehicle was located by a Madison officer near the entrance to the Bissell Street apartments. The driver was not present, but he was arrested near the apartment complex at 3:55 p.m. Nov. 24.

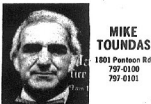

Meanwhile, Venice police received a report at 5:24 p.m. Nov. 23, that Gregory's auto allegedly struck an eastbound vehicle, operated by Rebecca J. Randall, 20, of McKinley Bridge.

The driver then passed through the toll booth without paying, it was alleged. Miss Randall sustained a minor injury in the mishap and was required to seek medical attention.

Moments later, Gregory allegedly struck the traffic light and then hit an auto belonging to Evelyn M. Riley, 23 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, which was parked in the 1000 block of Bissell Street.

Gregory's auto was extensively damaged and the vehicle was impounded when the driver could not be located.

State offers booklet on saving energy & water

A booklet designed to provide energy and water conservation tips to commercial contractors is being made available to the public by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

"How to Sell Water-Energy Conservation Products," published by the Plumbing Manufacturers Institute, describes why water and energy conservation are needed, conservation methods and ways to promote conservation. Nearly 2,000 of the booklets were purchased by DCCA's Office of Resource Conservation for distribution to commercial contractors. "Commercial contractors have the means of promoting water and energy conservation in the home. After all, they build homes," said DCCA Director Peter B. Fox, adding, "The booklets can help contractors save our resources as well as money."

Contractors may obtain the booklet free of charge by writing the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, Community Energy Conservation Program, 320

W. Washington, fifth floor, Springfield, Ill., 62706, or phoning the DCCA toll-free at 1-800-252-2923.

STEAL MOTORCYCLE

A 1982 black and red Harley Davidson motorcycle belonging to Donald Stark, 125 Lennox Ave., Mitchell, was stolen from a parking place adjacent to the Tri-City Area YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., it was reported last week. The front end of the machine had been secured with a padlock, the owner told police.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR HOSPITALS

The Hospital Association of Metropolitan St. Louis' Board of Directors has approved a new shared laundry contract. This contract, awarded to Charles Todd, Inc., for 1983 through 1985, represents the culmination of the Laundry Committee's efforts to develop a state-of-the-art laundry program.

The program will provide for various optional services in addition to the basic laundering previously provided. In addition, the Todd Company, working with association staff, will produce statistical analyses of linen usage which can be used by participating hospitals to improve their linen management and thus, contain costs.

Also, a line standardization program is under way with the intent of implementing standard item purchases in 1983. Based on the bids submitted, participating hospitals are expected to realize savings of nearly $2 million over the duration of the contract.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center is among the association's members. Charles Todd, Inc., operates a facility at Route 3 and Rock Road.

Suggest early releases for Christmas services

Quad-City area churches are invited to submit programs to be featured during the Christmas season at respective churches to the Press-Record, 1815 Delmar Ave., as soon as possible for the religious pages.

Each article should include time of the event, date, sermon topic, minister's name, musical selections and other pertinent information.

Articles received by Dec. 16 will have the best chance of being utilized in full detail.

Spanish Mass Sunday

The annual celebration of the Feast of Our Lady of Guadalupe will be offered in Spanish on Sunday, Dec. 5, at St. Joseph Catholic Church, 2101 State St.

The guitar Spanish Mass will commence at 11 a.m., with an impressive procession and the traditional Mananitas to serenade the Blessed Virgin de Guadalupe, an ancient custom of Mexico which continues today in all cities and villages throughout Mexico.

In the Mexican celebration, huge throngs of men, women and children take part in candlelight parades, carrying statues and wheeling and pushing colorful flower-bedecked floats. Fireworks burst above the parades and singing highlights the marches, which frequently cover long distances.

According to historical data, a self-portrait of Our Lady of Guadalupe was miraculously imprinted on the tilma (cloak) of a humble Aztec Indian, Juan Diego, on Dec. 12, 1531, at Tepeyac Hill in Mexico. The date was only 40 years after Columbus discovered America.

She appeared to show her "mother love," according to legend, and she asked that a shrine be built in her honor as Virgin Mother of God, promising that she would give an answer to the problems of all those who love and trust.

The shrine was built and stands today just north of Mexico City, the central location of the Western Hemisphere and, at that time, capital city of the New World.

All parishioners and the public are invited to attend Sunday's celebration.

OUR LADY

of Guadalupe, whose self-portrait was found Dec. 12, 1531, imprinted on a cloak in Mexico. A Spanish Mass will be celebrated in her honor at 11 a.m. Sunday at St. Joseph Catholic Church.

Mrs. Dickerson offered the opening prayer and Mrs. Roe gave the devotional, entitled "Fruits of the Spirit."

In the business session, plans were made for a Christmas banquet at 6 p.m. Monday, Dec. 6, at Duff's Restaurant in Alton, and a holiday potluck dinner on Jan. 3.

A letter of thanks was read from a recipient of a Thanksgiving basket, prepared by the women's group, and the members selected patterns for kitchen floor covering. The latter will be purchased as a gift to the church.

Venice plans to seek Enterprise Zone status

By Valerie Evenden
of the Press-Record
The first of a series of public hearings on a proposal to seek Enterprise Zone status for the entire City of Venice, as a means of economic revitalization, will take place at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 14, in the city council chambers at Venice City Hall.

The action was taken by the Venice aldermen at Tuesday night's meeting, preparatory to submitting an application for certification as a Enterprise Zone to the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

Public hearings and community involvement in the preliminary hearings, and overall program are mandatory requirements, Mayor Tyrone Echols stated.

The Enterprise Zone concept involves taking an area of distress and turning it into one that can support economic growth through a series of government and community actions on behalf of the businesses.

Legislation creating the Enterprise Zone Act, enacted earlier this year by the Illinois General Assembly, resulted from the governor's Enterprise Zone Task Force, formed in October 1981.

The bill includes provisions for allowing tax incentives and state assistance in the formation of capital needed for growth. It also permits local units of government to apply for regulatory relief and special program incentives, such as targeting the use of industrial development bonds for enterprise zones.

Measurable objectives projected by the city of Venice, if its proposed application is accepted, would include the location of two new businesses in the Enterprise Zone and the creation of 15 new jobs within the first year.

Additionally, the city promises to: —Attract at least one business to the area, which will provide a community or consumer service not currently available in the city.

—Establish and maintain contact with the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs in seeking to contact and recruit at least five businesses interested in locating operations in Venice.

—Encourage all businesses located in the community to seek active participation and representation in regular meetings of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, in order to upgrade the community's standing among the local business sector.

—And, explore methods and resources for upgrading housing and to investigate and utilize to maximum potential locally available vocational programs, organizations with ongoing economic development concerns and available incentives for business retention, expansion and attraction.

Through the Enterprise Zone concept, Mayor Echols proposed "making the whole city attractive, rather than just one section of it, as in larger cities."

"As you know, President Reagan, although a Republican, is really pushing for this type of program and these people have the president's ear. "If we are designated an Enterprise Zone community, it means we can get help from the Small Business Administration, Community Development funds and preferential interest rates. Such programs put you in the line of fire and, to get assistance, we should do it," the mayor contended.

The Department of Commerce and Community Affairs is to designate up to six zones a year in Illinois, based on applications that are submitted beginning Jan. 1, 1983. The department must make its decision by July 1 of any year.

There was no public hearing on the funding of a proposed community center for Venice senior citizens prior to Tuesday night's regular council session. Dates announced in the local media had been changed several times and were erroneous.

A hearing on the proposed center now is scheduled for 6 p.m. Monday, Dec. 6, in the Venice council chambers.

The mayor invited the public to attend the hearing and "make your feelings known. Whether a senior citizen's community center will be put here or not is solely up to you," he told those at the meeting.

"That decision will be made by the public, not by the mayor, nor by the city council. So I advise you to be here Dec. 6 and make your feelings known."

Some opposition to the idea of using Community Development funds and block grant money to finance the center's construction was voiced at a Nov. 16 public hearing, when the issue was tabled by the council, in a 5 to 2 vote, in order to give residents proper notification of a further hearing on the matter.

2 WARRANT ARRESTS

Acting on warrants, Granite City police last week arrested George W. Hudson, 20, Sesser, Ill., in a 1981 Granite City case and Thomas R. Chancellor, 19, of 2527 Nameeki Drive on a South Roxana charge.

Proclaim week

Governor Christopher Bond and Governor James Thompson have signed proclamations, designating the week of Dec. 5 to 11, as Head Injury Awareness Week for both Missouri and Illinois.

3 indicted by U.S.; Weber seeking data

By BILL WINTER

This is running out on state prosecution of the three suspects in the August abduction of Dr. and Mrs. Hector Zevallos.

Madison County State's Attorney Don W. Weber voiced deep concern Wednesday over federal authorities' delay in providing information to his staff.

He considers it important that the trio face state as well as federal charges, and says Dec. 16 is his unofficial deadline for reports that could serve as a basis for grand jury action.

The men kidnapped Zevallos freed them eight days later after warning that the Hope Clinic for Women, Granite City, must be closed.

A federal grand jury in East St. Louis issued a two-count indictment Monday, charging Don B. Anderson, Matthew M. Moore, and Wayne A. Moore, all of Texas, with conspiring and attempting to obstruct interstate commerce by threats or violence.

"I have no idea where the Federal Bureau of Investigation might be keeping information from my office," Weber told the Press-Record.

"Mr. Hess (U.S. Attorney Frederick Hess) has been open with me. He's doing his job as well as he can, considering what the FBI has been doing."

"I have no report from the FBI that says whether any defendants have made statements, that identifies anybody as a witness, or that even provides a date of birth for the suspects."

"I don't even have a report from the FBI with their correct names. I have never seen a case as significant as this handled in such a manner."

"The FBI is the finest law enforcement agency in the country. They're also probably the biggest. They definitely are the finest. "I can't understand—in an investigation involving one of the most important cases of the last few years—why they can't pry like a secretary somewhere to do some paperwork."

"I've been told that the FBI just got behind in its paperwork. But I can't believe—in a case of this magnitude—that they can't keep up with it."

Citing an unrelated case handled by his office, Weber said, "It moved ten times faster than this one, and we had the reports within three days. I don't understand why this case has moved so slowly."

The abducted Madison County couple never was taken out of Illinois, eliminating the possibility of federal kidnapping charges. Weber would like to prosecute the suspects on state kidnapping allegations, but worries that the calendar may prevent this.

"The way I read the statute, we might have trouble with two of the prosecutions. That's not absolute or insurmountable, but I want to avoid such a problem."

"Dec. 16 is the last time this year that we can charge them, because that's the last time the grand jury will meet."

The suspects are being held on $1 million bond each. The Zevalloses, former Granite Cityans, were abducted Aug. 12 from the Country Club Estates subdivision and were freed Aug. 20 after the gynecologist was warned to close the local clinic.

At a news conference last week in St. Louis, Dr. Zevallos said, "Anti-abortion people... can't force clinics to close. My colleagues around the country and I will not abandon our belief in women's right to choose safe abortions."

The last to be arrested, Anderson, 41, was captured Nov. 24 in Springfield, Ill., while hiding in the loft of a garage. A .45-caliber handgun was confiscated.

Those arrested Nov. 21 were two brothers, Wayne Moore, 18, and Matthew Moore, 20. Wayne was apprehended in Springfield and Matthew in Houston. They and Anderson called themselves the Army of God.

An Army of God also has claimed that it bombed clinics in Florida but no link has been established between the two groups.

The trial is expected to be held at the U.S. District Court in Alton, with Judge William Beatty of Granite City presiding. Judge Beatty issued arrest warrants prior to the trio being taken into custody.

The basis of federal interest in the case is the U.S. government's responsibility to prevent extortion that affects interstate commerce and to prohibit use of interstate facilities like highways or telephones to advance a criminal scheme.

The only public ransom demand was for Pres. Reagan to denounce abortions, but one of the trio took $60 from the doctor's wallet, asked if there was more money or a safe in the Zevallos home, and said the kidnappers wanted $200,000 to $300,000.

The doctor and his wife were blindfolded and held at an abandoned ammunition bunker near a cornfield at Illinois, 20 miles east of Springfield.

The men who abducted them at gunpoint criticized abortion and threatened to kill them.

Dr. Zevallos was forced to make a tape recording that was sent to police with a 44-page "epistle" using biblical language.

Dr. Zevallos told reporters that the capture of the three shows that anti-abortion forces cannot achieve their goals with lawlessness. He had promised the trio he would close his clinic here in return for the couple's safety.

Laura Moody, Hope Clinic executive director, said she thinks the abduction has damaged the anti-abortion movement but has had no effect on the number of patients at the clinic. She said that while most who oppose abortion do not favor violence, use of "inflammatory wording and emotional propaganda" by some abortion foes may foster violent acts.

The three accused men are believed to have visited the Springfield area, where the Hope Clinic has advertised. They obtained Dr. Zevallos' name from the clinic doctor, where all names have since been removed.

In another new development Wednesday, Special FBI Agent Jon Osgood testified at a federal court hearing in Springfield that Wayne Moore signed a written confession the day he was arrested, and that Wayne Moore named the other two suspects in his statement.

U.S. Magistrate Charles Evans yesterday granted the government's request to order the prisoner transferred from Springfield to the East St. Louis federal court district.

Evans refused to lower Wayne Moore's bond.

In a separate development, U.S. Attorney Hess said he will ask the FBI to expedite forwarding of reports to Weber. He noted that the case involves massive statements and reports.

Hess said he thinks state kidnapping charges can be filed since the federal government is not alleging kidnapping.

Weber fears state prosecution may be precluded, not only due to the time element but because much of the state and federal cases may be similar. He wants the background documentation as soon as possible in order to study it.

The state's attorney notes that the suspects would be subject to 60-year prison terms if convicted of aggravated kidnapping by the state, compared with potential 20-year terms under the federal Hobbs Act.

Link 3 to crimes

Three brothers with links to the Granite City area are the targets of prosecutors for a variety of crimes, authorities said Tuesday.

Hal D. "Jerry" Holt, 30, is charged with aggravated kidnapping and with armed robbery of the 55-143 service station.

Hal and William Holt also are charged with a July 1 Hamel motel robbery. Arrests began Nov. 12 when Hal Holt was captured by Amarillo, Tex., authorities after holding them at bay for nearly four hours. He is still in Amarillo awaiting extradition.

The other two are at the Madison County jail, where the sheriff's staff has compiled evidence on a number of the crimes.

Legislature holds key to economic health

By KEN WATSON

SPRINGFIELD — During the hard-fought governor's race both candidates were in agreement on one issue: Much needs to be done to restore Illinois' economic health.

Republican James Thompson and Democrat Adlai Stevenson pledged that their first priority would be to intensify efforts to halt the drain of jobs from this state and to bring new ones in.

Unfortunately, any governor's good intentions are not good enough. Most of the can-do in the job-winning field depends on the Legislature. The immediate outlook here is far from bright.

The state's leading business-organization, the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, has taken a pessimistic view of the outcome of the legislative races. In an election post-mortem, the ISCC state fairly that "Illinois business faces an uphill battle in the new 83rd Illinois General Assembly."

It noted "that out of 61 Illinois House members who rate highly with business in the last election, 25 lost their seats. Furthermore, 30 members who tended to vote against the business position on key bills were returned to their House seats. In the races for the state Senate, 26 known friends of business were elected, and 29 legislators who generally do not support the business viewpoint are returning."

In contrast to the ISCC's unhappiness, its chief adversary — the state AFL-CIO — was virtually ecstatic over the election outcome. Said the unionists in their post-mortem: "While Governor Thompson retains a slim lead over his Democrat opponent, Adlai Stevenson, it was clear that close to half of the Illinois voters questioned his role as chief cheerleader in Illinois for President Reagan's economic policies while 700,000 Illinois workers remain unemployed."

The AFL-CIO this year was more closely linked with the Democratic cause than at any time in recent elections. All Democratic candidates for statewide offices were endorsed and so were virtually all the Democratic candidates for Congress and the Legislature.

The union people are understandably pleased about the Democrats' wrestling control of the Illinois House from the Republicans. The present lineup is 91 Republicans and 86 Democrats, but in January the Democrats will have it by a solid 70-48. Fifty-nine House seats were eliminated as a result of a constitutional amendment adopted by the voters in 1980. In the Senate the Democrats increased their present scant one-vote margin to 33-26.

Despite the big Democratic edge, it remains to be seen whether labor will have the increased legislative clout that the new party lineup might indicate. It has generally been believed that reduction of the size of the House would reduce the influence of organized labor.

Will the new members, many undoubtedly elected because of labor support, loyally follow the AFL-CIO line in voting on bills as was the case a few years back when union legislative influence was at a peak? Nobody knows at this point.

The ISCC is placing its hopes on legislators elected for the first time as independent incumbents. Says Lester Brann, ISCC president: "One thing that is clear from the preliminary election returns on races for the state Legislature is that, especially in the Illinois House, the key to votes on legislation affecting business will be held by newcomers and 15 incumbents who don't follow any voting pattern."

What it is all building up to is another session-long tug-of-war between the state's business organizations, headed by the ISCC, and the union forces led by the AFL-CIO. The outcome could have a tremendous impact on the economic future of Illinois and the overall welfare of all its people. There are increasing indications that the long recession may be ending. Will Illinois be able to participate in the hoped-for upswing ahead?

The question is far more than academic. For instance, there is still much to be done to bring Illinois workers' compensation laws into closer conformity with other states, especially those Midwestern states that have been siphoning away our jobs by the thousands.

Despite continuing high unemployment, the unions appear determined to block any further revisions of the liberal compensation benefits achieved in the 1975 legislative session under strongly pro-labor Gov. Dan Walker.

With substantial help from Thompson, business and labor in recent years have made some progress in modifying these benefits to make Illinois more competitive with other states in the new business and jobs sweepstakes. But many companies still take a hard look at Illinois workers' compensation and unemployment insurance costs and then take off for other states where those costs are lower.

Brann clearly has a point: "As the state emerges from a painful recession, all parties — Democrats and Republicans, business and labor, Chicago and Downstate — will have to pull together in the legislative process to insure the economic recovery of our state and the improvement of Illinois' job-creation climate."

But will they?

Brazel completes project

Life Scout Mark Brazel of Boy Scout Troop 7, sponsored by St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church, completed his Eagle Scout Service Project during the Thanksgiving weekend.

While a Life Scout, a candidate for the Eagle Scout Badge, must plan, develop and give leadership to others in a service project helpful to his religious institution, school or community. The key words for the Eagle Scout project are "plan, develop and give leadership to others."

For Star and Life service projects a Scout can be a follower but the Eagle, he must be a leader. The service project also must be approved by the scoutmaster and troop committee and review by the district advancement committee.

Brazel's project was a safety check of streets between Eighteenth to Thirtieth, Adams Street to Madison Avenue and Madison Avenue to Kate Street. A project covering more or less central Granite City. Bad weather could not stop the Scouts of Troop 7 in assisting Brazel as four hours of the project were completed in a steady rain. Some of the safety hazards found during the service project were: missing traffic signs, hidden traffic signs, holes plus others. Brazel will submit his findings to the Granite City Street Department for possible follow-up.

Increase patrols for drunk drivers

The Illinois State Police has implemented task force patrols to "Remove Alcohol Impaired Drivers (RAID)" from the highways. The RAID Program commenced on Nov. 1 and will continue for 30 weeks during the months of December, 1982, and April through August of next year.

As a result of a grant request, federal highway safety funds, administered by the Illinois Department of Transportation have been authorized to utilize off-duty troopers in State Police districts throughout the state to place emphasis upon enforcing Driving Under the Influence (DUI) violations. Superintendent R. J. Miller said, "The objective of this program is to strategically patrol ISP districts within areas identified as having high DUI incidents in order to apprehend intoxicated drivers, thereby reducing the number and severity of accidents caused by the drinking driver."

According to the Maryville District Commander Captain Laimutis A. Nargelinas, the concentrated enforcement program in the five-county area served by District 11 will be centered on the Metro-East area of Madison and St. Clair counties, the Godfrey Township area of Madison County, and in Clinton County, Route 50 from Trenton to Carlyle, and also Route 127, five miles north and south of Carlyle.

Captain Nargelinas said, "The RAID patrols will not be used to replace or substitute regularly-scheduled district operations. We will continue to be alert for drunk drivers everywhere in our state, not just on special patrol areas."

State acts to protect from insolvent trusts

WILLIAM MOSIER, JR., a private in the U.S. Army has completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C. He is now enrolled in a 19 week course of Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md. The serviceman is the son of William L. Mosier, 2102 Bryan Ave.

Acting Insurance Director James W. Schacht has expressed satisfaction with the success the Illinois Insurance Department, working in cooperation with the Attorney General's Office, has had in resolving the problems created by the rash of Multiple Employers Trust (MET) insolvencies.

"The collapse of several multiple employers trusts became one of the leading consumer fraud problems in Illinois earlier this year," Schacht said, "when literally thousands of working people who thought they had legitimate insurance coverage were left with no benefits and huge unpaid medical bills."

"Through the efforts of an inter-agency Insurance Trust Fraud Unit, which was created earlier this year by former Director Philip R. O'Connor and Attorney General Ty Fahner," Schacht said, "the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, 'we have put four of these insolvent self-funded health care trusts out of business or forced them to cease doing business in Illinois, and have succeeded in arranging payment of almost all of the outstanding claims left unpaid the collapse of these trusts.'"

Schacht praised the work of Assistant Director Richard W. Carlson, who has directed the work of the fraud unit since its inception, and all of the insurance adjusters and attorneys who have worked hard to unravel and resolve the complex problems caused by these operations.

"I think it is absolutely outstanding," Schacht said, "that to our knowledge no Illinois resident insured by one of these failed trusts will have lost any benefits, and that more than $750,000 in unpaid hospital and other medical expenses have, with the cooperation and assistance of several reputable insurance companies, been settled."

Utilizing a loophole in the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), Schacht said a number of entrepreneurs who promoted trust arrangements offering health care benefits cleverly side-stepped state regulation and certification by claiming to be an ERISA-exempt MET.

"While it seems these schemes have always ultimately been found by the U.S. Department of Labor not to be legitimate employee benefit plans under the ERISA law," Schacht said, "the operators of these phony trusts have, until this past year, been able to hide behind their self-proclaimed status as an ERISA trust because the U.S. Labor Department requires no prior approval or certification before that entity can begin selling its insurance program."

Schacht also thanked Governor Thompson and the General Assembly for responding so quickly to the problem posed by the collapse of these multiple employer trusts.

Illinois became the first state in the nation to approve model legislation on the subject adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners in June of this year. Signed into law as Public Act 82-1005 on Sept. 17, 1982, this legislation establishes a presumption that the Illinois Insurance Department has jurisdiction over any person or entity providing health care benefits in Illinois, unless it can prove that it is subject to regulation by another government agency. This new law also was adopted as a model for all states by the Conference of Insurance Legislators earlier this month at its annual convention.

"We will continue to search for and take action against any self-funded, self-proclaimed MET which does not qualify as a legitimate ERISA trust," Schacht declared, "and the additional statutory authority granted by the legislature in June will greatly assist us in moving against these unauthorized insurers."

"Now we will be able to move immediately to cure any fraud being perpetrated by one of these insurance trusts without having to engage in a lengthy jurisdictional dispute."

"Without the monetary benefits which can be skimmed as a result of these delaying tactics, we believe there will be no financial incentive left to establish any more of these trusts in Illinois."

Schacht revealed that the Illinois Department periodically continues to uncover these insolvent trusts, and presently is working with the Indiana Insurance Department concerning an Indiana trust, Independent Group Trust, which recently became insolvent. This was business which was previously in two predecessor trusts, Midwest Medical Trust and National Services Association Group, and is a good example of how this business is often "rolled over" from one trust to another as each trust becomes insolvent or insurance investigators begin closing in.

Schacht reminded any company, administrator, agent or broker which sells, and certification by claiming to be an ERISA-exempt MET.

supports or administers coverage which is not fully insured or otherwise fully covered by a company authorized to do business in Illinois that under the new Illinois law they must advise any purchaser, prospective purchaser or covered person of the lack of such insurance.

"We are proud of our accomplishments and serve notice on anyone associated with one of these self-insured, self-proclaimed MET's that we will not relax our vigilance," Schacht said. Schacht joined with other insurance commissioners from around the country in urging the Congress to pass HR 6462, the Earleborn-Burton Bill, which amends ERISA to explicitly authorize the states to assume the presumption of jurisdiction over MET's until the plan has received certification from the U.S. Department of Labor. Any plan without such certification would be subject to all aspects of state regulation.

Woman reports battery, burglary

Cheryl Turner, 2377 Iowa St., arrived home during the weekend, accompanied by two friends, and found a former boyfriend hiding in a bedroom closet. He did not have a key to the home, she told police.

The friends forced the man to leave the apartment. She then found $20 was missing from a glass jar in the living room, she said.

Mrs. Turner had other problems with the same man, a Madison resident, about an hour earlier, she said. At that time, the victim was seated with friends at the bar at Vic's Tavern, 20th Street and Illinois Avenue, holding a baby, when the man came in, causing trouble and allegedly pushed her off the bar stool, resulting in a bump on the infant's head.

The former boyfriend then took Mrs. Turner's coat valued at $150, and placed it in a mudhole outside the tavern before leaving the area, she told officers.

Probation for 2 in GC burglary

Associate Judge Edward Ferguson sentenced Richard Grider, 25, of 1306 Kirkpatrick Homes this fall to 18 months of probation for a June 30 burglary in Granite City.

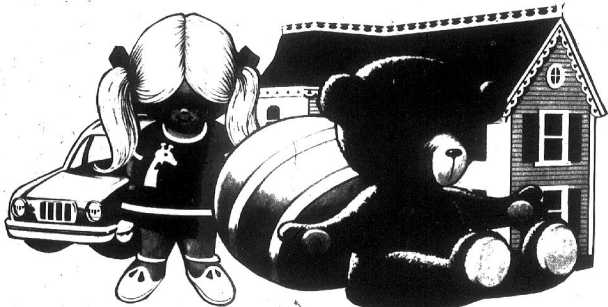

Restitution of an unspecified amount of money also was ordered at the Third Circuit Court in Edwardsville.

In the same case, Circuit Judge William Johnson later ordered Dannie L. Reisinger to serve 18 months of probation and to make restitution.

Reisinger, 27, of 2214 Madison Ave., also known as Dannie Griffin, was linked to the same June 30 burglary in a charge filed July 23, the same day Grider was charged.

Jerry Maeras

businessman while an elected official in a rambunctious era only slightly more refined than Maeras's bawling, turn-of-the-century years.

A "goose that lays golden eggs," the city's Chain of Rocks toll bridge, was operated successfully under Mayor Maeras a time when free Interstate river bridges were unknown.

Patronage was utilized to maximize election backing for the "city organization" headed by the mayor. It was helpful when seeking a bridge or city job to have many relatives of voting age, all living in Madison.

The mayor's late brother, John Maeras, also served in public office, being elected as Madison County treasurer and sheriff. John Maeras was sentenced to prison for actions during his tenure as sheriff but did not go behind bars because of declining health.

Mayor "Steve," originally a bookkeeper for a coal and feed company near the 13th and State streets rail crossing, never was successfully accused of wrongdoing and was described at Illinois Municipal League meetings as the leader with the most savvy about how to operate a city or village.

As a political maneuver, a legislator once accused him of misfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance in office, citing vice and gambling; he was exonerated.

The mayor often argued with "feds" about the way he computed his tax returns, but won all the arguments. Like his father and uncle, Jerry Maeras also chose governmental service, but on a lesser scale. He held the elective post of Venice Township tax collector in 1973-81.

Continuing the realty and insurance firm founded by the late mayor, but with dwindling volume in the 1970s, he spent considerable time at his service station and became active in church groups.

His early life had included rowdy times. He smoked big cigars, making him look more mature than his years, and he tried to live up to an image he felt was appropriate for the municipality's "first family." But he was not always successful at it.

Then, bolstered by his religious faith, Jerry Maeras seemed to be living a more sedate life in recent years.

Despite the placid surface appearance, government documents allege that—behind the scenes—he was breaking several laws.

The "poor little rich boy" who once leaned heavily on his father for help and counsel no longer had access to "Mayor Steve's" judgment, experience, business acumen and political clout.

He was on his own, and the United States government found the son's monetary innovations had gone beyond lawful boundaries.

In his court appearance Monday in St. Louis, Jerry Maeras acknowledged committing crimes related to a new kind of "gold-filled goose," the Stix brokerage.

Everyone in a small inner circle of acquaintances apparently had developed a "Midas touch." Brimberry expended cash as if the supply was inexhaustible.

But it was not skill; it was a series of reckless, unauthorized acts that created such wealth, Uncle Sam will argue next year.

This week, the prosecutors contended that Jerry Maeras:

—Established two brokerage accounts in Las Vegas, Nev., using $500,000 Brimberry had taken from Stix.

—Concealed Brimberry's partial ownership of various accounts.

—Forged signatures on audit confirmation cards to indicate that records of such accounts were accurate, even though the records actually were highly inaccurate.

—Created a $150,000 loan to Stix from A.E. Shaw, Maeras' wife's maiden name, utilizing money misappropriated from Stix by Brimberry and put into a "Maeras Enterprises" account.

—Failed to report $18,000 in interest from the loan in his 1977 and 1978 income tax returns.

—Reported nearly $40,000 in interest received in 1979 and 1980, while giving half of it to Brimberry.

—Followed the suggestions and timing of a man he may have regarded as a securities "mastermind," Brimberry, in transferring assets between brokerages and financial institutions.

—Acted in cooperation with Brimberry, Maeras and Diane Skinner, another of the defendants, to implement some of the transactions.

As Ronald Kane, a U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission attorney, read the allegations against him Monday, Maeras responded, "Yes, sir, they are," when asked if the facts were the same as had been outlined.

Attorneys present told U.S. District Judge William L. Hungate that the admission of guilt was part of an agreement with prosecutors not to charge Maeras or his family with any other illegal actions, in exchange for "full and complete cooperation on other matters."

The prosecutors said in court this fall that they are reconsidering their initial agreement with Brimberry, based on new developments.

Under the pact, the severest sentence Brimberry could face is three years in prison.

In accepting the guilty plea (Rth Maeras, Judge Hungate contended that the plea is only tentative, pending Maeras' further cooperation with the government.

Maeras remains free on a $10,000 recognizance bond. He was represented in court this week by David V. Capes, who is serving as one of his attorneys. The other is a Madison County lawyer, John Gitchoff.

Capes predicted that Maeras' cooperation will focus added attention on the scope of Brimberry's role.

Maeras and Brimberry have been pictured as friends who had a disagreement last year shortly before Brimberry decided to tell federal authorities about the large-scale looting of funds. Brimberry already was under investigation for unpaid income taxes.

Officials agreed to a relatively light sentence for Brimberry in return for his information, which they felt assured success of their investigation.

During the time since the brokerage was ordered into receivership by a federal court, a trustee and several agencies have had a chance to sort out virtually all of what took place at Stix in the late 1970s and early 1980s.

They took their time, in an effort to do a thorough job, and the first indictments were issued this fall.

Capes said Monday that Maeras has provided the U.S. with substantial information about Brimberry's activities.

A former assistant U.S. attorney in St. Louis, Capes blames Brimberry for "using" Maeras. He says that "everything was done under Brimberry's direction" and that it is possible "the 1981 deal will fall flat," subjecting Brimberry to broader scrutiny.

Handling the prosecution along with Kane is Terry Adelman. The former conceded Monday that Maeras "did a lot of things under the direction of Tom Brimberry" and the latter prosecutor emphasized that he regards Brimberry as "a principal" in the case.

Maeras had no role, official or unofficial, in Stix operations, other than as a customer and securities investor.

Brimberry, 39, now thought to be in Arizona, admittedly was the "pro" in the brokerage manipulations. And he may not be a favorite of Kane and Kane's Securities and Exchange Commission associates.

The former Stix senior vice president, who for several years spent money like a millionaire after spending much of his stock market career in low-paid clerical work, boasts of outwitting the SEC.

He speculates that in the future he "will make a lot more money."

Brimberry has been quoted as saying that his main regret is that he did not obtain an additional $2 million from the looted firm.

He believes he has embarrassed the federal government, and that the $36 million theft plan "could have gone on forever" had he not decided to tell about it—on the advice of Belleville attorney Edward Maag—while being interviewed by the IRS about his tax returns.

He calls current SEC rules and procedures inadequate to detect fraud, and he says he is convinced that it takes place at many securities brokerages.

Brimberry has been further quoted as asserting that——After joining Stix in the early 1970s following previous employment at another brokerage, he began illegal activity in 1975 and, by 1976, was stealing "nickels and dimes" from the company—"a couple of thousand here and there." Bigger-scale thefts then followed, he admits.

Maeras, an attorney, started buying Stix stock and within a few years had acquired majority control by investing nearly $1 million; simultaneously, Brimberry began his rise toward major operating responsibilities at the brokerage.

—Brimberry set up ten margin accounts, using 30 to 40 phony stock certificates as part of the collateral; he bought blank certificates at a stationery store in downtown St. Louis, filled them out and signed them. "The auditors never caught it," he says. In other instances, he adds, he authorized false entries into the company's computer to cover up the scheme.

—With the aid of the "stock collateral" he had created, money was loaned to customers, ostensibly to buy other securities; large amounts of cash were paid out, and the SEC wasn't "smart enough to catch it."

—Obtaining more than $1 million a year, Brimberry built a mansion on Parkway Drive in Granite City and in 1980 bought a $480,000 Phoenix area home in which some say he resides; he denies he is staying at the latter home and says it has no furniture.

—He purchased many luxury autos and spent money lavishly. For a time he made almost-weekly gambling visits to Las Vegas, where he sometimes won high-stakes games but often lost heavily at the MGM Grand and Desert Inn casinos, once dropping $250,000 in 30 minutes. Instead of gambling along with other patrons in the main casino room, he would have a blackjack table roped off in a more private area, in order to compete as an individual against the dealer in bets totaling thousands of dollars.

—Although still living in luxury, he has only $30,000 in cash and some real estate; he says he does not have money or jewels stashed away in Cayman Islands or other distant deposit boxes.

—Setting up an excavating company here, Brimberry says he stuffed it with relatives of his wife; some refused to work, and he ordered them fired in 1981. One became angry at him and telephoned the IRS to say he was evading taxes.

—After IRS agents questioned him for hours, they visited Stix & Co. (not related to Stix, Baer & Fuller) on the night of Nov. 4, 1981, to locate records he had described to them.

The next morning, the agents returned to Stix with a search warrant, seized the documents and closed the brokerage. In a pouch in a bank vault where millions of dollars worth of securities were supposed to be stored, investigators found only some folded copies of the Wall Street Journal.

—Brimberry's chief regret is that he failed to sell 70,000 shares of MGIC Inc. before he disclosed the Stix fraud. The shares were worth $2 million and were under his control in margin accounts he had established, he says.

Testimony by Brimberry was heard by a federal grand jury here during the summer of 1982. The charges against Maeras and the indictments of four other persons were announced in October.

Although the Stix bankruptcy trustee, banks and others are suing to tie up his holdings, Brimberry says he hopes to retain the Arizona home because, he asserts, it was bought with gambling winnings, rather than Stix funds.

Not as flamboyant or as free spending as Brimberry, Maeras in most ways appears to have played a much smaller part than Brimberry in the scenario—a scenario that officials describe as the largest brokerage looting in the nation's history.

But while he perhaps is only one of the "bit players," Maeras is the first of those under suspicion to formally acknowledge guilt.

And he might well become the chief witness at widely-watched hearings, where some of the testimony could be sensational in nature.

Christmas aid deadline nears; 'tree' at $8,727

By VALERIE EYENDE

of the Press-Record.

Quadrant area fund applying for Christmas aid through the Salvation Army Tree of Lights reached a record total of 802 families yesterday, while contributions to the fund amounted to only $8,727.

This year's goal is $33,000 and only 23 days remain until Christmas Day, George Knecht, Tree of Lights chairman, reminds area residents.

The fund finances food baskets, clothing and other seasonal gifts to families in need of help. More applications for assistance have been received this year than in any previous year.

Those wishing to apply for holiday food baskets and other aid through the traditional fund drive may do so in person before Friday, Dec. 10, at Salvation Army Community Center, 3007 E. 23rd St.

Captain Donald Salisbury, Salvation Army commander, said applications will be accepted at the center Mondays through Fridays, between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon and 1 until 5 p.m.

Persons applying for assistance are required to bring adequate identification, a paid utility (electric service) bill or similar receipt showing the current address of the applicant, or a recent receipt, and proof of income, such as a Public Aid green card, if served by that agency.

Special arrangements can be made to help applicants who are handicapped or confined to their homes. Such arrangements may be made by calling Mrs. Maxine Rutter, Salvation Army secretary, at 431-7957, or a family member may come into the office with the appropriate information.

Last Christmas, 545 baskets were given out to needy families and a total of 527 was distributed in 1980.

Mrs. Rutter suggested that area churches and other organizations wishing to provide yule baskets contact the Salvation Army office at 431-7957 to avoid duplication.

Groups planning to give gifts of food to specific families also may check with the office, thereby allowing more recipients to be helped, she pointed out.

Rep. Lee Daniels next minority leader

By RAY SERATI

SPRINGFIELD — Rep. Lee Daniels of Elmhurst has emerged as the apparent Republican minority leader in the House for the 83rd General Assembly which convenes in January.

Daniels, who currently serves as one of the Republican leaders in the House, which is controlled by the GOP this session, beat out Rep. Jack Davis of New Lenox for the job. Both have been working for the leadership post since last summer.

Diabetes campaign set for Dec. 2 — 4

The American Diabetes Association is inviting local residents to spend a few hours on Dec. 2, 3, or 4 to "shake the can" for fight against diabetes. Last year, this three-day public awareness and fund-raising campaign, called Tag Days, sponsored by the American Diabetes Association, Greater St. Louis Affiliate, raised more than $22,000 to aid in the fight against diabetes and, with more volunteers, the association predicts that amount can be doubled.

This year's volunteer chairmen are Judi Fishman and Jeanne Kelly. "Our goal is to raise $50,000, so you can see the need to have as many volunteers as possible to accomplish this task. It really is a lot of fun meeting people and raising money at the same time," they said. Volunteers will be located at the entrances of various stores or businesses within St. Louis City, St. Louis, Jefferson, St. Charles and Franklin Counties in Missouri and Madison, St. Michael and Monroe Counties in Illinois.

Every 60 seconds another American is diagnosed a diabetic and, at that rate, an American born today has a one in five chance of becoming a diabetic. In the St. Louis Metropolitan area, there are 125,000 known diabetics. It is the third cause of death and the leading cause of blindness. A cure must be found. Volunteers are needed for the three-day campaign.

Interested persons may call one of the following Illinois area chairmen to volunteer: Mary Jane Malone in Belleville, 225-9614; Bill Wright in Fairview Heights 1-397-1238; Jack Fulton in Collinsville 344-4377; Becky Slate in Granite City 798-5108; Pat Busse in Alton 1-465-1346; or the Diabetes Association at 1-314-968-3106.

Cold usually sets in at the extremities first, because as we get cold, blood vessels narrow. Heat is conserved within the torso — the most critical part of the body to keep warm.

That's why feet and fingers are the parts most likely to feel the cold first. For the hands, mittens are better than gloves due to less surface area around the fingers. For the feet, wear warm wool socks and waterproof boots. Finally, for the head, those decorative knitted wool caps will collect snow, so wear caps made of water-repellent cloth with wool lining if you will be outside for long periods of time.

A hat is more critical than one might suppose, because you can lose up to 30 percent of your body heat through your head. There's truth in the old adage, "When your feet are cold, put on your hat."

When it's cold, bundle up; add clothing layers

By GERALDINE BOWER

Area Extension Adviser

In many parts of Illinois last winter, the thermometer had never read so low.

Ever.

If the coming winter even comes close to being as cold as last year's record-shattering weather, it will take some wise bundling to stay warm and healthy.

The secret to cold-weather clothing is layering. Several thin, loose-fitting layers are much more effective than one big, bulky layer.

For instance, the Army's arctic clothing consists of seven layers above the waist and layers below.

When several layers are worn, air becomes trapped between layers and is warmed by the body's heat. This insulation then serves as insulation.

This insulation factor also is the reason why layers should be loose, not close-fitting. Tightly fitting clothes do not allow room to trap air.

When it comes to cold-weather comfort, loosely woven fabrics are more effective than tightly woven fabrics, and natural fabrics are better than synthetic fabrics. Natural fabrics, such as cotton and especially wool, hold up best when wet. Actually, down is the best insulating material found for pound, but it tends to become matted when wet and doesn't provide the needed warmth.

There is one exception to the rule that loosely woven fabrics are superior to tightly woven fabrics: The outer layer of clothing should be tightly woven, as well as water resistant.

That way, the outer layer can shelter you from both wind and water. Water-logged cloth can conduct cold to the body an estimated 240 times faster than dry clothing.

Cold usually sets in at the extremities first, because as we get cold, blood vessels narrow. Heat is conserved within the torso — the most critical part of the body to keep warm.

That's why feet and fingers are the parts most likely to feel the cold first. For the hands, mittens are better than gloves due to less surface area around the fingers. For the feet, wear warm wool socks and waterproof boots.

MHC boxing: A fistful of good comes from it

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

There are many in our society who feel that the sport of boxing should be outlawed and not be permitted.

I, for one, never did like to cover boxing, and disagree vehemently with that viewpoint. My dislike for the sport grew out of a feeling of knowledge that the sport for many years was controlled by gangsters.

Those opposing prize fighting have just recently received a big break in their campaign to outlaw the sport: the sad death, with millions looking on via national television, to the tragic and very sad death of Korean Kim Duk Koo, who was knocked out in Las Vegas by exciting Ray (Boom Boom) Mancini in the right built outside Cessna Palace.

By Ring Magazine's account, it was the 39th fatality in boxing matches since 1918. To rationalize that figure is less than one day's death by auto accident in the good Old U.S. of A. is simply to miss the sad point.

And, to tick off the deaths in football, basketball, et al, during a year's time, doesn't help make a case for or against boxing.

I like the sport because it demands the ultimate in personal bravery. And, a devotion to self discipline which no other athletic event demands.

And, secondly, and the main reason for this feature story, is when there are men like Granite City's own Merce Mendoza who is in charge of a program, I fervently believe that a million times more good will come of young boys and men learning the "ins and outs" of boxing than if they didn't.

Mendoza, himself a great amateur fighter in his youth who advanced to and won Golden Gloves championships here in the Midwest, was born and raised in West Granite's Lincoln Place. He, along with ring great Gene McGovern (also of Granite City), are still idols of a substantial number of young Quad-Citians.

Merce, a deputy assessor in the Supervisor of Assessment office at Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville, is starting his fourth year of the revival of team boxing here in the Quad-Cities and centered in its former headquarters, the Lincoln Place gym. Sponsored by and called the Mexican Honorary Committee Club, Mendoza currently has a squad of 25 to 30 young men enrolled in ages from as low as seven up to 25.

"I believe that many, if not most, serious injuries can be avoided if the young man learns how to properly handle himself in the ring. Remember this: there is a counter for every attack, and so forth. Beyond the tactical aspect of the sport, I believe that all participants should be forced to wear protective head-gear and that heavier (16-oz.) gloves be mandatory in all classes."

Members of the squad, with their age and their weight listed in this order are: Jeff Kohler (11-70); Scott Kohler (10-60); Terry Baughus (9-75); Mike Garcia (8-60); Doug Dier (8-45); Ray Griev (11-90); Brad Bierschwal (7-50); Richard Harms (7-50); Joe Kostoff (11-60).

Derek Bloodworth (11-60); Jerry Davis (11-75); Frank Stevens (14-90); Richard Mendoza (14-100); Joe Gan-cheff (16-115); Brian Baore (20-132); Rutue Balencia (16-132); Chip Hagmar (16-139); Jaime Ybarra (15-145); Randy Lupandus (20-145).

Marc Mason (24-156); Rudy Rangel (22-165); Larry Arnold (16-145); Mike Harper (25-168); Danny Mendoza (21-160); and Ray Takmajian (17-165).

Mason, it should be noted, was a standout goalkeeper in Granite City prep soccer and was, I think, only the second of two natives of this area to "make" the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer squad, although his role on the Cougar squad could be properly called a "token" player. Danny Mendoza, too, is an exceptionally good soccer player and is a starter on the Huntsville, Ala., University squad. Playing basketball for the Steelers of Granite City North is Ray Takmajian.

Coach Mendoza was, himself, a member of the Granite City South basketball team and was, if I recall correctly, a member of the team which upset a great East St. Louis High team. He scored a game high of 18 points in that stirring game played, as only young older prep cage fans will remember, on the stage at South.

themselves, should call me at: 878-3509. All our workouts and drills at Lincoln Place Community Center are fully supervised. Every precaution is and will continue to be taken to prevent serious injuries to our team members."

Steeler grapplers annihilate Lancers in opener

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Last year, Granite City North's wrestling team opened the season with a surprisingly easy 42-7 win over Belleville East.

The Steelers went on to finish the season with a 20-0 record in dual meets. North opened the new season Tuesday with a 40-4 win over Belleville East.

Defeating the Lancers was much easier than what Steeler coach Walt Whitaker expected. East returned several wrestlers from last season, and he thought that would have closed the gap.

Although the Steelers opened the season strongly, Whitaker isn't completely sure if this year's Steelers are made of the same stuff of last season's squad.

"We have to be tested by somebody really tough before you can compare the teams," Whitaker said. "At this point, we're in as good a shape as last season's team was at the beginning of the season. I rather be in the shape we were in than the shape Belleville was tonight."

Belleville was already in the hole, 12-0, before a Lancer wrestler hit the mats. East had to forfeit at both 95 and 105, and North's Gary Mann and Collin Davis picked up victories.

From that point on, the Lancers went downhill. Greg Nemeth defeated Vince Black 12-0 at 113, and Brent McKinney defeated Kenny Baldwin 5-2 in a pair of decisions.

Rod Unger remembered how sweet winning was last season and defeated Brian Wolf 17-4 in a major decision.

Sophomore Mark Whitaker pinned Paul Ley in 3:45 at 138. Dan Whitsell defeated Greg Hamilton 16-5 in another major decision, and Bruce Weidel downed Mark Bartle 7-3 at 155.

The most unusual match of the night came at 167: North's Bill Zimmer defeated Ken Arton 35-8 for a major decision. However, a team point was taken away because of a penalty against Zimmer.

Quincy Senior led all other schools with a total of three athletes named to the All-State team. Quincy Sr.'s senior goalkeeper Jim Bruce, senior forward Jim Sandercock, and senior forward Roger Wilson were all named to the team.

Evanson, Wheeling, Glenbrook North, West Chicago and York each had two athletes named to the team.

Conference was named to the All-State team. Pearce, a senior, was goalkeeper on the Comanche squad.

Collinsville, the defending state champions which was eliminated by South in the Edwardsville Sectional, did not have any athletes named to the team.

In fact, the only other athlete from downstate Illinois was Belleville East's Juan Carlos Ramos. Ramos is a junior halfback for the Lancers.

"Bill would keep putting him down, but he couldn't quite pin him. He somehow got out of each of the takedowns. He did an outstanding job tonight considering he's had more than a year's absence," Whitaker said.

From there, the rest of the Lancers went down easily. John Morris defeated Larry Simmonds 9-2, and heavyweight John Kramer pinned Jay Barnett in only 18 seconds.

"I was really surprised by how easily we beat them this year. They had several people returning from last year. It was a nice way to open the season," Whitaker said.

North's only loss came at 126. Brad Walker of East defeated Rick Rash 10-2.

The Steelers have a few gaps which they have to fill, but Whitaker is hoping they can make those adjustments.

Whitsell is trying to get down to 138. Unger's trying to get down to 126, and Mark's trying to get to 132, and that will open up 145 so Monte Kessler can get the line-up. That will make us more solid than we are now," Whitaker said.

The Steelers will find out more about how good they really are Friday and Saturday. North plays host to DeSmet Friday at 6:30 p.m. and travels to Belleville West to wrestle the Maroons.

Edwardsville and Collinsville at 10 a.m. "We'll get a real test over the weekend," Whitaker said.

Yatkeman, Phillips address 275 at park banquet

Special guests Dave Phillips, American League umpire, and Butch Yatkeman, retired St. Louis baseball Cardinal clubhouse manager, were the highlights of the evening at the 23rd annual Granite City Park District Sports Award banquet Tuesday evening.

Yatkeman, who had served the Cardinals for 58 years, was the first special guest to address the estimated 275 persons attending the banquet at the recently commemorated Harold E. Brown Recreation Center. It was the first time ever the banquet, usually held at Granite City South's cafeteria, was held at the facility.

"The reason the Cardinals were so successful this year," Yatkeman said, "is because people like you volunteered their time years ago to the youths who are now the Cardinals."

Phillips, the second guest speaker, has obviously had more experience speaking before a crowd. Phillips, who has been an American League umpire since 1970, talked about some of the more comical incidents he has experienced as an umpire.

In addition to the several awards presented to the park district's baseball teams, service awards were presented to Bob Austin, Boyd Preseley, and Jim Nelson.

The awards are presented annually to persons who unselfishly give of themselves to the park district.

Austin has been active in both the district's baseball and softball teams and is presently coaching a softball team. He has also served on the district's rules and protest committee.

Preseley has been affiliated with the park district for many years and is currently serving as a manager on a little league team. He too, is a member of the rules and protest committee.

Nelson, too, is a member of the rules and protest committee and is presently serving as a baseball manager.

The final award of the evening, the Appreciation Award, is the district's highest award. Carl Peters, of C.D. Peters Construction Company was presented the award by George Sykes, president of the park board.

The award was presented to Peters for his sponsorship for the various youth and adult teams throughout the years and for his generosity in permitting the park district to use much of his company's equipment to better its facilities.

MELHS defeats Roxana, wins 'Classic Tourney'

The Metro-East Lutheran High School basketball team improved its record to 4-0 last weekend by winning its own Thanksgiving Classic Tournament.

The Knights defeated Roxana 83-68 in the final game Saturday to secure the championship. Steve Cummins paced the MELHS cage squad in the final game with 31 points, while Cliff Dellamano complimented Cummins' efforts with 18 of his own. Roxana's Brad Haug, who was named the tournament's most valuable player, led both teams with 35 points.

The Knights, coming off their first win last week against Mulberry Grove, earned a berth in the championship game by defeating Livingston 52-47 Saturday afternoon. Again, it was Cummins who led the Knights in scoring with 31. Doug Rankin of Granite

City was the only other Knight in double figures as he managed 10 points.

Friday in the opening game, the Knights defeated Staunton 63-45. Cummins racked up 18 points followed by Dellamano with 14 and Tim Trampe with 10.

Livinston finished third in the tournament behind Roxana, while Staunton was winless finishing last.

Trittschuh, Hency named to state team

Bill Hency, halfback of the Granite City South's championship soccer team, and Steve Trittschuh, fullback on North's soccer team, have been named to the Illinois High School Soccer Coaches' All-State team. It is the second time in as many years that Trittschuh has been named to the elite squad. In all, 40 athletes throughout Illinois were named to the team.

Cahokia's Rick Pearce was the only other athlete from the Gateway East Conference was named to the All-State team. Pearce, a senior, was goalkeeper on the Comanche squad.

Collinsville, the defending state champions which was eliminated by South in the Edwardsville Sectional, did not have any athletes named to the team.

In fact, the only other athlete from downstate Illinois was Belleville East's Juan Carlos Ramos. Ramos is a junior halfback for the Lancers.

MHC boxing team to compete in Silver Gloves

Mexican Honorary Commission boxing coach Merce Mendoza will lead five boxers to Springfield this weekend to compete in Silver Gloves competition.

at the Springfield Boys' Club.

Scheduled to fight in the opening round of competition Saturday, Dec. 4, in the 60-pound sub-novice division are Joe Costoff and Derek Bloodworth. Both boys are 11 years old.

Jeff Kohler, 11, will compete in the 70-pound weight class, as Terry Davis, also 11, competes in the 80-pound weight class. Rich Mendoza, 14, will compete in the 106-pound class. Rich is the son of boxing coach Merce Mendoza. The elder Mendoza is the 1961 Golden Gloves champion. (See related story.)

All five fighters competing in Silver Gloves competition this weekend will fight in the sub-novice division.

Last Friday, Nov. 26, in competition at the North St. Louis County Boxing Club, Rich Mendoza lost a split decision to Pagadele's Taron Molit.

Joe Gancheff, also of Granite City, lost a split decision to Mike Bardash. Gancheff competed in the 118 pound class of the novice division.

A third boxer, Mark Mason, was injured playing soccer and had to withdraw from competition.

In both Silver and Golden Glove competition, bouts are limited to three rounds.

Illinois first half deer harvest tops 15,000

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois deer hunters bagged approximately 15,500 white-tailed during the first weekend of firearm deer hunting, Nov. 19-21, according to the best estimates of biologists in charge of the Department of Conservation's white-tailed deer program.

—Last Tuesday, the unofficial tally stood at 15,465 — 744 more than were taken during the first weekend of hunting last year. Biologists expect the figure to near or exceed 15,500 as more check stations around the state report their totals over the next few days.

Forrest Loomis, who heads the Department's Forest Wildlife Program, said he is surprised by the season results.

"I'm surprised hunters did as well as they did," Loomis said. "In southern Illinois we had almost constant rain and a lot of rain and fog in the central area. I understand that a lot of hunters simply gave up in southern Illinois and went home after Saturday. Up in the northern part of the state there was a lot of standing corn still in the fields, and that's usually a factor against hunting success as well."

Earlier in the fall, Loomis had forecast a deer harvest similar to last year's which fell slightly below that of 1980. Citing a deep population which appears to have stabilized throughout much of the state, Loomis surmised the years of annually-increasing deer harvests were over.

Now, however, it appears that this year's total harvest may total 22,000 to 24,000 once the results are in from the second half of the firearm season, Dec. 10-12. Two reasons for the larger than expected harvest totals are a larger than usual number of hunters in the field and an exceptionally healthy deer herd.

Venice routs St. Henry 85-60

VENICE — The Venice High School basketball team, under the direction of 6-year head coach Ken Perkins, started its season off in grand fashion Tuesday as the Red Devils defeated St. Henry 85-60.

"I was happy with the win, but I really didn't think we played all that well," Perkins said.

He attributed his team's less-than-desirable play to the early season and an undetermined starting roster.

"The season's still young and we haven't found the right five guys yet," Perkins said. He said he's looking for a combination of five athletes who work best together.

"The five that eventually win the starting positions may not necessarily be the best five athletes," Perkins said. "But, they'll be the most compatible."

Two athletes Perkins said will be the nucleus of his 1982-83 edition team are juniors Ed Salmond and Phillip White. Salmond and White, both guards Tuesday evening, each scored 22 points against St. Henry.

"They're (Salmond and White) a commodity," he said. "They've been playing together since they were in grade school. They complement each other as well as any two I've got."

Two other athletes who played well in Tuesday's opener are center Keith Marchbanks and forward William Watts. Both Marchbanks and Watts were in double figures. Marchbanks managed 13, while Watts trailed with 12 points.

After what Perkins termed a "sluggish start," the Red Devils began rolling. By the end of the first quarter, Venice rolled to a 21-4 lead. By halftime, the Red Devils held a commanding 16-point lead, 43-27.

By the end of the third quarter, Venice improved on its lead, increasing it to 25 points to lead 65-40. That 25-point lead turned out to be Venice's margin of victory.

Despite Venice's lopsided victory, Perkins praised St. Henry's team.

Venice Red Devils

"They're a good team and they're going to beat some teams this year," Perkins said. "Steve (McPeak, St. Henry's coach) asks for an 'x' amount of points ... they give him that and more," Perkins said.

St. Henry failed to test Venice Tuesday night. Venice's real first test will come Friday night as the Red Devils take on neighboring Madison in Venice.

"I expect it to be a typical Madison-Venice game," Perkins said. "We like to play Madison later in the year, when we're in mid-season form," he said. "It should be our hardest fought game of the season."

Venice goes into Friday's game sporting a 1-0 record, whereas it will be Madison's first game of the season.

Cougar alumni sponsor bus trip to semifinals

Fans, including students at the general public, are being offered an opportunity to support the soccer team of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this coming Sunday when the Cougar Kickers battle the University of Indiana at Bloomington, Ind., at 2 p.m. at the Hoosiers' new stadium, the Little 500 Field.

The SIUE Alumni Association has organized and is offering a bus round trip to Bloomington for $21, which includes a fried chicken box lunch on the trip to Indiana. One bus is already sold out. Those interested should call: Warren Stookey, 618-682-2760 or the Cougar Kickers.

The buses are scheduled to depart from the SIUE Alumni office on the campus at 7:30 a.m. Sunday morning.

In an earlier, regular season clash between Indiana and SIUE, the two collegiate soccer giants battled to a 1-0 decision in favor of the Hoosiers on a direct penalty kick with the Cougars forced to play about 10 minutes with one man short.

The winner of Sunday's game at Bloomington, will go to the NCAA Division I championship game at Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, Sunday, Dec. 12th. The Cougars won it all in 1979 at Tampa Bay, defeating Clemson, 3-2.

BAC wrestling team is 'weighty' with GCS grads

BELLEVILLE — Jim O'Dell, the wrestling coach at Belleville Area College, is a believer that Granite City South's wrestlers are prepared for college wrestling.

That is why five former Warriors are wrestling for the Dutchmen this year. Doug Graham, Sam Givens and John Beswick, 1982 South graduates are already wrestling for BAC while Scott Jenkins and Paul Willis will join the Dutchmen in January.

"I'll say Granite City South's wrestlers are as prepared as any wrestlers I've ever seen in college," O'Dell said. "We have 15 wrestlers and we have some good ones from Belleville and Cahokia, but we have five from Granite City South. You don't need anymore proof of how tough South's wrestlers are. A kid with Granite City South by his name does strike fear in his opponents because they know they are well prepared and can wrestle at the college level," O'Dell added.

Graham is BAC's top wrestler in the upper weight classes, O'Dell said. In the early going, he is 3-0 in the heavyweight class, and O'Dell is expecting great things from the freshman this year.

"I think Graham should place in the national tournament this year," O'Dell said. "I think he has developed his skills very well, and with hard work, I think he has a real chance to be All-American this year."

O'Dell expects Graham to be wrestling at the 190 class later in the year. Givens, 2-0 in his matches so far this year, is also a surprising development for the Dutchmen. "When you get out of Granite, you know a wrestler has the skills at SIUE, was nevertheless glad to see his team win even though it wasn't an altogether artistic success. Early on, it looked like the Cougars were simply going to blow the visitors off the Edwardsville High gym floor, but the gutsy little, for the most part, Trojans, kept battling back and kept within "catching" distance for all but the final five minutes.

winning game-scoring laurels with 22 points.

Speaking of fouls, the game was amazingly free of misdeeds on the floor by both teams: the first infraction wasn't blown until a little over ten minutes had been clocked. One of the officials working the game was Dave Phillips, an American League umpire who also worked the World Series and is chief of officials for the Metro Conference.

visitors in the game, but in the second half Pugliese switched the Cougars from the zone to man-to-man and the smaller Logan troops couldn't come with it.

After the game, Pugliese said he was pleased with his team's offense . . . particularly the second half: "We began using the back-door and our overall height advantage . . . to both score and control both boards in rebounding."

On the right, a player in a white jersey with "NORTHERN ILLINOIS" and the number "54" is jumping high, arms extended upwards, attempting a shot or pass. On the left, a player in a dark jersey with the number "3" is also jumping, reaching up with hands spread to block the shot. In the background, another player in a dark jersey is visible, crouching and watching the play. The scene is dramatically lit, with strong highlights on the players' jerseys and limbs against a dark background.

EDWARDSVILLE — Still in search of their first victory of the season, the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville women's basketball team will hit the road this weekend as the Cougars visit Warrensburg, Mo. to compete in the Central Missouri State University Dial Classic.

The Classic, which tips off Friday when the Cougars take on the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay at 6 p.m., will also feature the host Jennies against East Central College of Oklahoma. Opening round winners will meet Saturday at 8 p.m. to determine the Classic championship, while the consolation game is scheduled to tip-off at 6 p.m.

Despite bursting loose with 50 points in the final 20 minutes last Tuesday in their season-opener, the Cougars couldn't overcome a 43-25 halftime deficit and lost their first game of the year, 84-76, to the Lady Braves of to the Lady Braves of Bradley University. Newcomer Mia Smith, a freshman from Farina, and senior Brigette Wells paced the Cougars' attack with 18 points each, while Mona Mitzenius collected 10 rebounds.

Last weekend, across the river at the Missouri-St.

Louis Thanksgiving Tournament, the Cougars dropped their first two games, 97-74 to Southwest Missouri State University and 99-59 to Creighton University.

Against SWMSU, Mia Smith again led the scoring attack for SIUE as the 5'6" guard pumped in 17 points. Barb Streeter (14), Brigitte Wells (12) and Mona Milzenius (12) also reached double figures in scoring for the Cougars.

Against Creighton, the Cougars couldn't counter the explosive Blue Jay offense which saw five players score in double figures and hand SIUE its third loss of the season. Mitzenius, a 5'10" senior from Oneida, led the way for the Cougars with 11 points.

Following the Dial Classic, the Cougars return to Edwardsville High School for a scheduled 5 p.m. contest Dec. 8 against St. Louis University. The women's match-up against St. Louis will be the first game of a scheduled basketball double-header as the SIUE men's team will take on Central Missouri State at 7:30 p.m.

Pat Anderson wins Speak-Off

Pat Anderson was judged the winner of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Young Careerist Speak-Off at last week's dinner meeting at Charlie's Restaurant.

Barbara Young, Young Careerist chairman, introduced Miss Anderson, who is a registered nurse in the office of Dr. Gerard M. Baggot, a Granite City physician.

Miss Anderson spoke on "The Changing world of Working Women, pointing out that 'change is as movement of a glacier, but it does come. Women are no longer stagnant; they are setting higher goals and seeking further education and skills."

"Through endless effort and determination, women have been able to make positive changes in conditions to elevate their opportunities in today's job market," Miss Anderson noted.

Miss Anderson, who wants to advance her career by becoming an interpreter for the deaf, was presented a gift certificate and will represent the Granite City BPW Club at the District 14 Speak-Off in February.

Judging the event were Paul Ray Bowler, Mike Nichols and Mary Lou Malwitz.

Miss Malwitz addressed club members on the focus of the Young Careerist Program by "Providing guidance and inspiration to young people while furnishing information on careers and roles they will play in their communities."

She explained the program's three-part objective as — Career awareness through identification of the numbers and types of jobs available; personal contact with adults in various professions; and sponsorship of Youth Leadership conferences and Women Awareness seminars.

"These segments are combined within the program in order to recognize and share ideas with outstanding young women, both in school and in established careers, and to provide the young women and BPW members with a constructive and rewarding experience," Miss Malwitz said.

In conjunction with the program goals, Mrs. Young recently spearheaded a joint effort with the Granite City Rotary Club and the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce to place more than 450 local students in careers of their choice for

Colleges to receive grants

Governor James R. Thompson recently announced that up to $300,000 in grants will be awarded in January to Illinois community college districts interested in establishing or expanding business resource centers on their campuses.

"This administration endorses programs that link community colleges with area business," Thompson said. "Under this program, a maximum of 20 $15,000 grants will be available on a competitive basis to community college districts."

"The primary thrust of this program is to encourage local educators, businessmen and business groups to set the priorities and design local programs specific to their areas," Thompson said.

"The money will fund expansion or establishment of centers that area businesses can turn to for technical assistance. The centers also can be used to identify the needs of area labor forces," he said.

The $300,000 comes from the Governor's Grant Program and is comprised of CETA dollars. The plan will be administered through the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) Employment and Training Division.

Any of the 39 Illinois community college districts can apply for the grants which will be awarded on a competitive basis. DCCA will notify the districts regarding application procedures. The grants are to be used within a six-month period beginning Feb. 1, 1983 as seed money to establish or expand business resource centers.

Emphasis on the centers will be to actively participate in the economic development of their regions by offering curricula tailored to its business needs.

SPEECH CONTESTANTS. These three Granite City High School North students placed in the finals of the Waterloo Speech Contest last week. At left is Bryce Moore, who finished second in radio speaking, Susan Beasley and Scott Eberhardt placed fourth in dramatic duet acting.

Two caught, tell of looting auto

Police last week captured two of three prowling suspects at Edwards Street and Bromley Avenue. They admitted three parked auto lootings, apparently in the 200 and 2000 blocks of State Street, a short time earlier.

A boy, 16, had a flashlight and screwdriver in his possession and a boy, 13, had wire-cutter pliers. Questioning showed that the loot included the flashlight and pliers, plus gloves and a hand-held spotlight that were carried away by a 15-year-old.

A foster parent in charge of the three boys declined to bring in the third suspect, authorities said.

The two who were apprehended were charged with prowling and violating the curfew hour; they were released to the foster parent pending a hearing. The boys said they had left the residence several hours earlier.

State Lottery initiates Lucky Numbers II game

An auditor from a major international accounting firm Tuesday set in motion the process by which players of Lucky Numbers II can win $100,000 instantly, and then double their instant winnings to $200,000.

James L. Curry, an audit manager with the Chicago office of Touche Ross & Co., sealed into envelopes seven specially-made jumbo Lucky Numbers II tickets, and then randomly numbered the envelopes from one to seven. He then secured the tickets in an undisclosed location until they are needed.

Michael J. Jones, lottery superintendent, announced that there will be up to seven Lucky Numbers II tickets worth $100,000. Each of those seven winners will have a chance to win another $100,000 and four of them will. The game also offers 9.8 million individual prizes worth more than $21 million, including the grand prize of $1 million.

Jones said that to play Lucky Numbers II, a player rubs off the "prize" box on the ticket to see what prize he could win. The player then adds up the three numbers under the box marked "Lottery," and if the numbers add up to either 7, 11, or 21, the player wins the prize displayed on the ticket.

Jones said that the seven players who find they have tickets worth $100,000 should immediately contact the Lottery (toll free) at 1-800-252-8646 for further instructions.

The lottery plans to bring a randomly-assigned special jumbo ticket to each $100,000 instant winner immediately. Each $100,000 winner will play the game again, and if the numbers add up to 7, 11, or 21, he wins an additional $100,000.

Jones said that four of the seven jumbo tickets are winners. He added that they were produced under the supervision of Touche Ross & Co., and that to assure security, each try for the bonus $100,000 will be conducted under the firm's supervision.

The 38th winner of $1 million in the Illinois State Lottery will come from seven finalists randomly selected from the field of Lucky Numbers II players who win either a $25 or $50 instant ticket, fill out the back of their tickets, and claim their prize within 30 days of the announced end of the game. The lottery's $1 million prize winners receive their prizes at the rate of $50,000 a year for 20 years, and the other six millionaire finalists will win prizes

RCGA conducts membership drive

A one-week telephone campaign to sign up new members will be conducted by the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association Dec. 6 to 10, it has been announced by George A. Speer, RCGA membership manager.

Twelve volunteers will spend one day or more each at the RCGA office, telephoning prospective members to tell them about the benefits of membership in the organization. It is the first such effort by the regional economic development organization, though similar campaigns have been successful elsewhere, Speer said.

"This telephone contact program allows us to invite prospects personally to join the RCGA," Speer said. "They'll get the story from our own members, who are donating their time."

The RCGA depends entirely on dues income for funding a program that includes small business services and economic development activities including business retention and expansion and attracting out-of-town businesses into the bi-state St. Louis metropolitan region. Persons interested in membership may call 1-314-231-5555 and ask for the membership department.

December gardening

By CHRIS DOLL
Aren garden-hobblers
Rainfall in late November put an end to most outdoor gardening in Southwestern Illinois.

This means that soil moisture is in good shape under the fruit plants and all we need for fruit blossoms next spring is a good winter. It appears that most plants have hardened off satisfactorily and can survive normal winter conditions.

The freeze-up will be forthcoming soon and only the final touches need to be done. Fall plowing or spading of the vegetable garden can still be done so as to get an earlier start next spring. Pruning of apple and pear trees could be done now. But unless problems are foreseen in the spring, it's best to leave this task until late February or March.

All stone fruit tree pruning should wait until winter is past, to prevent cold injury to newly pruned trees. Strawberries should be mulched to prevent cold injury to the crown and also to prevent heaving of the plants by freezing and thawing.

Any new planting of trees or small fruits should also have the root zone mulched to prevent the alternate freezing and thawing damage. Fruit plantings should be protected from potential mouse and rabbit damage. Repellent paints, mechanical guards, baits, and trapping stations are ways to avoid rodent damage.

Finally, winterize your equipment. All engines should have the oil changed, carburetor drained, and moving parts lubricated. Drain water from sprayers. Clean and oil all hand equipment, and you will be ready for gardening in 1983.

CANNABIS ALLEGED. Steven A. Mueller, 2003 Bryan Ave., was arrested at his mobile home at 4:45 p.m. Thursday while police were there to oversee removal of a friend's possessions. Mueller was charged with possessing three cannabis cigarettes.

Jail sentence for obstructing justice

Charles E. Ragan, 38, of 2606 Madison Ave. has been placed on probation for one year and has been sentenced to the Madison County jail for four months and ten days.

Judge Ferguson dismissed related charges of armed violence and attempted murder, approving dismissal motions filed by the state's attorney.

23 CAR TIRES TAKEN

Twenty-three new auto tires valued at $1,622 were stolen from Ken's Amoco 24-hour service station, 2300 Pontoon Road, it was discovered Monday. Padlocks were broken by the thief to free rods that held the tires in a rack at the side of the building.

Column to answer health questions

Staying healthy is possibly the most discussed and important topic these days and doctors at St. Elizabeth Medical Center have expressed interest in helping Quad-City area residents stay healthy by providing answers to questions from local residents.

A column entitled "Doctors' Dialogue" will appear exclusively in the Press-Record as experts in their fields answer questions in specific health-related fields.

Experts willing to participate range from general practice doctors to brain surgeons, heart experts to those dealing with drug dependency and doctors from many other fields of medicine.

Questions on health matters may be sent to the Public Relations Department, St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., Granite City, Ill., 62040. Employees of the public relations department will select questions from those received, consult a specialist in those fields and submit the questions and answers to the Press-Record for publication.

Not all selected questions will be answered. Questions not used cannot be returned. Writers should submit only questions they desire to see answered in the newspaper, since there will be no private responses. The Press-Record will not be involved in selecting the questions used or picking the doctors to respond to them.

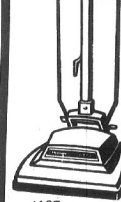

We sincerely hope that Press-Record readers will find this column contains helpful information for their health and that they will use it to find answers to important health questions.

Best of all, there is no office visit charge.

Swedist authorities visit Talbot Hall for suggestions

By MARIE MCKINSEY
St. Elizabeth
Medical Center

Swedish-born Monica Getz is a woman with a mission. She's out to help the people of her country kick the alcohol and drug habit.

During a recent visit to Talbot Hall, St. Elizabeth Medical Center's chemical dependency treatment unit, Mrs. Getz explained that Sweden is 30 years behind the United States in the treatment of chemical abuse. "Alcoholism and drug abuse are serious problems in Sweden, and these problems are very costly in terms of lives, family relationships and tax money," she said.

As Swedish liaison to the United States on alcohol and drug abuse, Mrs. Getz has more than a passing interest in the subject. She has studied the problem since 1969. She represents the Carnegie Foundation in Sweden, an organization involved in prevention programs. She serves on the board of directors of Odyssey House International, a drug rehabilitation program, and the Westchester Council on Alcoholism, both in New York.

Mrs. Getz also has traveled extensively in the United States, studying treatment programs. She gives lectures to Swedish physicians on the treatment of alcoholism and drug abuse and encourages them to come with her to the United States to visit American treatment facilities.

On her visit to Talbot Hall, she was accompanied by Dr. Johan Liljenberg, director of alcoholism treatment at Huddinge Hospital in Huddinge, Sweden. One of the reasons they chose to visit Talbot is because it is patterned after the Hazelden Foundation treatment program in Minnesota—a program that Mrs. Getz feels is one of the most effective in the world.

Mrs. Getz and Dr. Liljenberg also were interested in the Talbot program because it is located in an area that is very similar to Huddinge in terms of population and industry. The visit to Talbot enabled them to see how the Hazelden approach could work in Huddinge.

Mrs. Getz is optimistic about the success that Hazelden-type treatment centers could have in Sweden. Sweden's neighboring country, Iceland, adopted the Hazelden plan some years ago, with gratifying results.

"Iceland's problem was just as serious as Sweden's is now," Mrs. Getz said. "Until a group of Icelanders formed a program called 'Airlift to Recovery.' This program provided transportation to the Hazelden Center for treatment."

The results of the Airlift program were very good. So good, in fact, that the country of Iceland adopted the Hazelden method and now has its own treatment facilities. Mrs. Getz hopes that Sweden also will begin an Airlift program and eventually develop treatment centers, as Iceland did.

Although Sweden may be behind the U.S. in the development of treatment programs, Mrs. Getz said that Sweden has a much better prevention program. "Sweden has much stricter legislation against drunk driving. There is also a 'non-advertising' campaign, severely restricting advertisements for alcohol and tobacco." The result of these measures has been a significant drop in the consumption of these items, she said. "There also was a very thorough study done on school children when it was discovered that children were getting involved in drinking at younger ages. The study found that these children were getting their supply of alcohol in their own homes." In some cases, children were pilfering from their parents' liquor cabinets without their parents' knowledge. The rationale was that "I know they'll drink anyway, so I'd rather they do it at home where they are safer."

When it was pointed out to parents that their children probably could not get alcohol readily outside their homes, the myth that "they'll do it anyway" was exploded.

"Attitudes changed," Mrs. Getz said. "Parents saw it as a very irresponsible thing to allow their children to have alcohol or to leave alcohol around carelessly where their children would have access to it without being detected." Change in attitude and parental behavior has made a definite difference in alcohol use among children, she said.

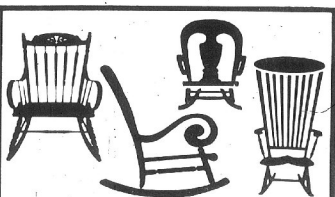

Beyond enacting and enforcing stronger legislation, Mrs. Getz said that the Swedish government is setting an example for the people. "At state functions now, hard liquor is no longer served," she said.

This strong prevention campaign appears to be quite effective. Individuals in Sweden who have not developed alcohol or drug problems are less likely to use and, therefore, abuse these substances. For those who have already fallen victim to alcohol or drug addiction, help is on its way. "It's like a puzzle; all we need is that one missing piece," Mrs. Getz explained, "the treatment piece."

Elect 2 to medical center board

The election of Sister Mary Anthony, hospital administrator for St. Joseph's Hospital in Breese, Ill., and John Fruit, president and chief executive officer of Edwardsville National Bank and Trust Company, to the Governing Board of St. Elizabeth Medical Center has been announced recently by SEMC President Sister Mary Thomas.

Sister Mary Anthony, of the order of the Sisters of Mercy of the Holy Cross, received her bachelor of science degree in medical record library science from St. Louis University and her master's degree in hospital administration from Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond, Va.

She currently is serving as the secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Hospital Association, Region Four, and is a corporate member of St. Joseph's Hospital in Dickinson, N.D., Holy Cross Hospital in Merrill, Wis., and St. Joseph's Hospital in Breese.

Fruit received his bachelor of science degree in marketing from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

His activities include chairman of the Edwardsville Citizens Advisory Board, the fund-raising treasurer for the EGHM Sports Complex, executive board member of the Cahokia Mounds Council, Boy Scouts of America, board member of the Edwardsville Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Economic Development Commission, the Edwardsville Citizens Financial Advisory Board and the Edwardsville Rotary Club.

Stop violation leads to 3 charges

Cecil S. Tinnon, 21, of 1200 Rhodes St., was arrested at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday by Madison police in the 700 block of Washington Avenue and charged with disobeying a stop sign, driving under the influence (DUI) of intoxicating liquor and disorderly conduct.

Police alleged observing Tinnon drive through a stop sign on Washington Avenue at Seventh Street. When police stopped the automobile, Tinnon was reportedly unsure as he walked and his speech was slurred. He allegedly screamed at police and became defensive when asked to produce his driver's license. Tinnon then was arrested and taken to police headquarters where he allegedly was "cocky" and "mouthy" during the booking procedure, police noted. Once placed inside a cell, Tinnon allegedly became violent.

Muny announces four classics during 1983

"Four of the most classic and beloved musicals ever written for the American theatre will be staged at The Muny during the 1983 season," it was announced by Edward J. Schnuck, president of the Municipal Theatre Association of St. Louis.

The shows include the Rodgers and Hammerstein favorite, "The King and I," the winner of seven Tony Awards, "Annie," "Man of La Mancha" and David Merrick's "I Do! I Do!"

We expect the rest of the shows for the 1983 season to be just as exciting as the four we are announcing today," Schnuck said last week. "We also anticipate an early and large demand for subscriptions next year, following the spectacular success of the 1982 season, which had the largest attendance in almost a decade."

A slight increase in single ticket prices for the 1983 season also was announced. Subscribers will receive discounts with savings ranging from 9.5 percent for box seats to 50 percent for Terrace C seats. Single ticket prices next summer will be: Box seats, $16; Terrace A, rows A through M, $14, and rows N through Y, $12; Terrace B, rows A through M, $8, and rows N through Z, $7.50; and Terrace C, $4.

Additional shows and information about the 1983 season will be announced at a later date, Schnuck said.
